Great Postwar Exploration for Oil in Canada

Most extensive exploratory program ever undertaken for oil in the Canadian west is under way. Two drillers inspect a worn rotary bit. It requires 100 to drill a well.

Well's first burst is burned off because in the acidizing treatment spent acid mixes with oil. Survey and drilling work employing 60 drilling rigs and seismographs are at present operating in Alberta Fields. About 20 new areas show oil.

Denmark Storing Beef; Victoria Butchers Meeting

Twice As Long To Handle Customers Meat Dealers Say

To discuss closing of butcher shops in protest against meat rationing Vancouver Island Retail Meat Dealers will meet tonight at 8 in the Chamber of Commerce. About 50 meat dealers are expected to attend.

"We understand the whole island is behind us," a spokesman for the association said. "As far as we know now we're going to fall in line with the rest of Canada in closing Sept. 24 to protest the rationing."

He said that meat dealers in Victoria were not planning to follow butchers in some other cities in refusing to handle coupons and sending them back to Ottawa. He understood any protests would be through closing meat shops. Vancouver Retail Merchants, he added, would probably be notified by wire of any decision made at tonight's meeting.

TWICE AS LONG

Jack Stuart, owner of Stuart's Meat Market, said his store handled the usual number of customers last week-end but that it took twice as long.

"More than half the customers," he said, "don't understand coupon values and hesitate about what to use their tokens for. It's even worse when they come in with two or three books for the family.

"Besides it takes the staff time to figure out the chart. They have to consult it all the time."

Mr. Stuart said he could not see where meat consumption would be cut down 12 per cent according to the present rationing system. He pointed out that during the last ration coupons had a similar value to those issued now and said he understood 6 per cent more meat was consumed.

He noted that although meat such as tongue and liver were now rationed, customers are refusing to use their coupons to buy these types now.

COPENHAGEN (AP)—While the rest of Europe starves for meat Denmark has 3,000 to 4,000 tons of surplus beef weekly which cannot be exported for lack of shipping space.

Hoegsbro Holm, permanent secretary of the Agricultural Council of Denmark, said Sunday that for the last six weeks farmers have had as many as 16,000 head of beef cattle ready for slaughter, but Denmark has been able to use and export only 10,000.

"At the time of the liberation we told the Allied powers there would be a surplus of meat by the first of August," he said. "We have been trying to get transport for at least two months, but to date nothing is ready to take the meat. It is impossible get boats in France, Belgium or Great Britain."

Since the liberation on May 5, Holm said, Denmark has exported roughly 31,000 tons of butter, 16,000 tons of bacon and 4,000 tons of eggs. Of this, he said, one half had gone to the U.S. army in Germany and the other half to the Ministry of Food in Britain.

Denmark hopes to step up these exports since before the war she delivered about one-third of the world's butter, half of its bacon and a fourth of its eggs.

U.S. Meat Rations On Peace Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Duration of meat rationing in the U.S. depends on the extent of food commitments abroad, Agriculture Secretary Anderson said today following a conference with President Truman.

Mr. Anderson's statement dispelled hopes that the meat rationing program in this country would terminate Oct. 1.

He said there is enough meat in the U.S. to meet the normal domestic needs without the necessity of rationing, "but if it is necessary to continue meat rationing, it will be a liberal one, equal to a normal peacetime consumption in this country."

Mr. Anderson said sugar rationing will probably be continued in 1946.

May Cut Occupying Forces In Japan to 200,000 In Half Year

TOKYO (AP)—History's greatest military gamble—the Allied landing in armed Japan—has paid off so handsomely that occupation forces probably will be cut to not more than 200,000 within six months, Gen. MacArthur said today.

As a result of the successful penetration of this conquered country, he added in a statement, troops will be returned home to the U.S. as rapidly as ships are made available. Regular army forces, he said, probably will be able to maintain unaided the 200,000-man force—"which will permit complete demobilization of our citizen (draftee) Pacific forces."

"There was probably no greater gamble taken in history," his statement said, "than the initial landings" where ground forces were outnumbered 1,000 to one by armed Japanese. But, he added, "the stakes were worth it."

Gen. MacArthur's estimate of 200,000 occupation troops is just half the number which Lt.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the U.S. 8th Army, recently said would be necessary—and Gen. Eichelberger's figures were at that time considered low. At the start, some 800,000 men — including air forces—were scheduled to participate.

On Saturday, however, Gen. Eichelberger forecast that the entire occupation might be "washed up" within a year if it continued as smoothly as it had started.

Gen. MacArthur's statement said the unknown quantity at the outset of the occupation was whether a military government would have to be established. This would have involved several million troops, he said.

U.S. 8th Army headquarters reported that round-up of the 46 war-crimes suspects wanted by Gen. MacArthur was proceeding with equal smoothness — with the Japanese government making the arrests. Twenty-seven already were in custody; only 17 remained at liberty, and two others were dead by their own hands.

U.S. naval forces meanwhile speeded Japanese disarmament by smashing 25 big coastal defence guns fringing Tokyo Bay, and scuttling 51 midget submarines, 103 suicide boats and 103 man-guided torpedoes.

Program to Convince Japanese of Defeat

Gen. MacArthur instituted today a broad information program to convince every Japanese of the empire's defeat, of its war guilt, to eliminate militarism and to encourage democratic principles.

The direct information program will employ the Japanese press, radio and schools.

The Pacific psychological warfare branch has been converted into an "Information Dissemination Section" under Brig.-Gen. Bonner F. Feller, Gen. MacArthur's military secretary.

Five points will be stressed, said the announcement, to.

"1. Aid in eradicating militarism and ultranationalism.

"2. Make clear the fact of Japan's defeat and acquaint the Japanese with their responsibility for the war, atrocities committed by their armies, and with the war guilt of their leaders.

"3. Foster a sound economy and encourage democratic organization.

"4. Encourage a free government responsible to the people.

"5. Promote political civil liberties, the free right for assembly, public discussions, education, free elections and respect for human rights."

Wife Sees Husband, A. Kenneth Jackson, Drown at Shawnigan

While his wife witnessed the accident from the shore, A. Kenneth Jackson, 1551 Clawthorpe Avenue, was drowned Sunday afternoon at Shawnigan Lake.

Mr. Jackson, 48 years old, had been canoeing with a friend and on beaching the canoe, went for a swim. According to the provincial police report, he waded out to about 40 feet from the shore to deep water.

Although known as a strong swimmer, he got into difficulties and sank. Friends immediately tried to bring him to the surface, but were unsuccessful until about 20 minutes later, the provincial police said. Artificial respiration proved of no avail, and a pulmotor rushed from Duncan at the request of Constable Bobby Ross of the provincial police brought no response when applied.

The body was removed to Duncan, and it is understood an inquest will be held in Victoria, the body being brought to Sands Mortuary.

Mr. Jackson, watchmaker in F. W. Francis' jewelery store, was visiting the Shawnigan Lake summer home of Hugh Francis with his wife and daughter when the tragedy occurred.

Born in Sudbury, Ont., Mr. Jackson had been a resident of Victoria for 10 years. He was celebrating his 48th birthday on Sunday. His father, W. J. Jackson, lives in Prince Rupert. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

Group Organizes Against MacQueen

In a counter-move against Maj. L. H. MacQueen, Independent Progressive Conservative nominee in the Saanich constituency, a public meeting will be held under the auspices of the North Saanich Progressive Conservative Association at 8 Thursday night.

To the meeting in the Legion Hall, Mills Road, have been invited all voters in the Saanich riding.

Purpose of the meeting is to sound out opinion as to the maintenance of the Coalition government.

Following the meeting, at which a provincial cabinet minister is expected to attend, the North Saanich Progressive Conservative Association will probably name delegates to the joint Liberal and Progressive Conservative nominating convention to be held Sept. 25. It is expected Norman Whittaker, K.C., Speaker of the 20th Legislature, will be named candidate. He is a Liberal.

Aim of the Thursday night meeting is to have Maj. MacQueen withdraw from the field.

Exports Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's exports totaled $295,000,000 in August compared with $257,000,000 for the same month in 1944, an increase of $38,000,000, Trade Minister MacKinnon announced today.

For the eight months ended in August, exports of Canadian produce totaled $2,295,000 compared with $2,281,000,000 in the same period in 1944, an increase of $14,000,000.

$50,000,000 Damage, 3 Lives Lost in Gale

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The tropical hurricane that swept Southern Florida with an estimated $50,000,000 property damage has moved across the coast to South Carolina with the centre near Parris Island, the weather bureau in Miami reported at 7.30 a.m. (P.D.T.) today.

The storm appeared to be losing its fury.

At its peak, the hurricane reached a velocity of 143 miles an hour in roaring across the Florida keys at Key Largo, hit 99 miles in Miami, took a toll of three known dead and wrecked or damaged thousands of homes.

To Drop Atom Bomb On Jap Battleship

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times said today in a dispatch from Tokyo that the United States Navy plans to tow the surrendered Japanese battleship Nagato 500 miles to sea and drop an atomic bomb upon it. The newspaper said the experiment "may determine the form of Navies in the future world order."

The 35,000-ton Nagato was surrendered at the Yokosuka naval base. Though badly damaged, the vessel had survived attacks by 500 U.S. naval planes.

The Times said newspapermen will be invited to witness the atomic bombing experiment through which it said the navy wants to learn these facts: whether the atomic bomb can cause the destruction of a single ship; what it will do to a naval force; what effect it will have on the water.

7 More Canadians Due From Orient

Secret Charge Added As Haw Haw Goes On Trial Before London Jury

LONDON (Reuter)—Counsel for William Joyce, who earned the nickname "Lord Haw Haw" for his alleged broadcasts over the German radio, at his trial for high treason today in Old Bailey, contended Joyce never was a British subject.

G. O. Slade, one of three defence counsel, said there was no case to go to the jury.

But Mr. Justice Tucker ruled: "There is some evidence which, if uncontrolled, would entitle the jury to come to the conclusion that this man is a British subject."

The prosecution produced evidence to show that Joyce received the Crown of the War Merit, first class, from Adolf Hitler for his wartime broadcasts.

CLAIMS U.S. CITIZENSHIP

When the prosecution case was concluded, defence counsel said Joyce was born in New York "and always remained a subject of the United States."

Counsel said he might ask the judge to adjourn the trial to enable Joyce's uncle, John Joyce, now in the United States, to testify.

Existence of a secret indictment against Joyce was disclosed as the trial began.

When Joyce had entered the dock, the clerk read the charge, which contained three counts of high treason, two for broadcasting propaganda on various dates during the war, and the third for purporting to become a naturalized German subject.

SPEAKS LOUDLY

He pleaded innocent in a loud voice, and the clerk then said "there is another indictment against you," but after consultation with the court he gave no details of it.

The jury consists of 10 men and two middle-aged women.

Joyce, in a navy blue suit, white collar and blue tie, walked quickly up the stairs from the cells to the dock and bowed slowly to the scarlet-roped judge. Standing at attention, he heard the indictment containing three counts of high treason read.

The first count said that between Sept. 18, 1939, and May 29, 1945, Joyce "did traitorously adhere to enemies overseas" by broadcasting propaganda in Germany. The second count charged Joyce with purporting to become a naturalized German subject Sept. 26, 1940. Count three was the same as count one, charging Joyce with broadcasting propaganda, but the dates were between were Sept. 18, 1939, and July 2, 1940.

Joyce sat erect facing the judge during the whole of the Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross' opening statement.

MOST SERIOUS

The Attorney-General told the jury that the treason with which Joyce was charged in each of the three counts of the indictment was perhaps the most serious of all treason charges—"the treason of giving aid and comfort to the king's enemies."

At these words Joyce's eyelids blinked once or twice, but otherwise his face was impassive. He did not smile or show any reaction when Sir Hartley declared: "Whether the prisoner's activities did more harm than good is a matter about which it will be unnecessary for us to speculate."

HE CARRIED PAPER

When Joyce was captured by the British forces last May, Sir Hartley continued, a document was found on him stating he was of German nationality, formerly British up to September, 1940.

WINNIPEG (CP)—No strike action will be taken by Winnipeg butchers in protest against meat rationing, it was decided at a meeting Sunday of 200 members of the Food Distributors of Manitoba Incorporated.

The butchers, however, will ask for modification of rationing by cutting out the rationing of all cooked and fancy meats, with the exception of cooked lamb.

Grave Diggers Busy In Berlin, Prepare for Winter's Deaths

BERLIN (AP)—Berlin's gravediggers are doubly busy these days.

They are digging up and reinterring tens of thousands buried in hastily-excavated, shallow graves during the last days of fighting for the city.

They are forehandedly digging new graves in anticipation of this winter's deaths.

Squads of former Nazi Party men were engaged today in moving the stacked and decaying bodies of 850 S.S. (Elite Guard) men from pits in the garden of the Reichschancellery, beneath Adolf Hitler's office window.

HEALTH PROBLEM

These were among thousands of bodies—perhaps 100,000—buried in emergency graves in Greater Berlin's public parks, gardens and courtyards when the Allies first entered. Many of them were covered with only a few clods of earth, and posed an acute health problem. Most have now been transferred to cemeteries.

Other thousands of bodies—some estimates go as high as 10,000—are yet to be recovered from the three-mile stretch of subway between the Stettiner and Anhalter stations flooded by the S.S. when those sheltered there begged for surrender to the attacking Russians.

The task of pumping 24 feet of water from the subway has taken two months already, and will require another fortnight.

Preparations to bury those expected to succumb to this winter's cold have already begun.

BEFORE FROST COMES

In the sector of the city they control, British authorities have told Germans to dig graves now—before the soil freezes—and given them instructions how to bury the dead quickly and easily.

Because of the acute fuel shortage, the British officials warned, there will be no wood for cremations and none for coffins.

They forecast a sharp increase in deaths this winter, pointing to a present death rate in Berlin more than five times that before the war. During the three months ending in July, there were 59,326 deaths in all Berlin. If that rate were maintained, there would be in 12 years deaths equaling the present Berlin population.

New Members Add Debating Power At First Session

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Parliament has completed a week's debate on the address, in reply to the Throne Speech and if new members yet to be heard in the Commons measure up to those who have spoken, old-timers on Parliament Hill probably will agree this is the finest crop of newcomers to enter Parliament in the last 20 years.

What impressed listeners was the sincerity, clarity and restraint with which they presented their arguments.

So well was the Liberal side reinforced with new stock that after Prime Minister King had led off the debate for the government in an unusually brief speech, only three cabinet members, State Secretary Martin, Defence Minister Abbott and Welfare Minister Claxton entered the discussions at carefully-spaced intervals.

OPPOSITION CHANGES

The biggest difference in debating strength was shown in the official opposition. Last Parliament when the Progressive Conservatives had only 39 members, almost everyone had to participate, but the three work horses were House Leader Gordon Graydon, Howard Green of Vancouver South and J. G. Diefenbaker of Lake Centre, Sask. Last week Opposition Leader Bracken, himself a new member, led off and new members then carried the bulk of the load. The big three of last session haven't yet got into action.

The other groups also had plenty of recruits to bolster veterans in their line-up of speakers.

It seemed agreed that some of the best showings by members speaking in French, among them Eugene Marquis, Liberal from Kamouraska, who made old timers think of Henri Bourassa when he was a young man. This new man has Bourassa's fire, his gestures and his elegance of expression.

Other young men who stood out among the Liberal speakers were Capt. Fernand Viau from St. Boniface, Man., W. M. Benedickson, Kenora-Rainy River, and the Independent who made a slashing attack on the Progressive Conservatives, Bona Arsenault, Bonaventure, Que.

TWO V.C.'s SPEAK

The official opposition expected great strength from their three war veterans from British Columbia, Maj.-Gen. Pearkes, V.C., Nanaimo; Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C., Vancouver-Burrard and Maj. E. D. Fulton, Kamloops. They more than lived up to expectations.

In the C.C.F. the debating group of the last Parliament is much stronger this season as demonstrated by the speeches of Mrs. Gladys Strum from Qu'Appelle, Sask.; Alistair Stewart, Winnipeg North and John O. Probe, Regina City. H. W. Herridge of Kootenay West, a People's C.C.F. member, also made a good speech.

Scouts Work for Community Chest

Saturday almost 1,000 Boy Scouts and Cubs, under the leadership of Freeman King, trooped out through Greater Victoria and distributed a small circular telling of the work and needs of the Community Chest to every house in the area. The campaign for $83,000 to support the work of 20 member agencies, of which the Boy Scout Association is one, begins today. The Scout Association has its headquarters at 1034 Johnson Street, and boasts the proud record that in the past 10 years on only one occasion have any of their members been involved in any juvenile delinquency. The scouts will receive $3,263.65 from the Community Chest funds to carry on their work for the coming year, and this is the only appeal for funds that will be made on their behalf. Mr. King reports that if he could get the older boys and men to act as leaders there are another 1,000 boys in Greater Victoria anxious to enrol as scouts and cubs.

Soviet Fliers Down Superfortress Over Korea; Apologize

TOKYO (AP)—The Russians shot down a U.S. Superfort over northern Korea last month and then apologized after Gen. MacArthur had lodged a strong protest, Supreme Headquarters announced today.

The Superfort was flying over Russian-controlled Korea when Russian fighter planes intercepted it and by signals twice attempted to force it to land.

The big bomber headed toward the sea. The fighters shot out an engine and the pilot ordered the crew to bail out.

The report here said all members of the crew escaped.

The Russians said the shooting was to be regretted, that it was a mistake, but that Russian fliers knew some Japanees planes still were in the air. The Russians said their pilots thought the Japanese might have repaired a Superfort forced down in Japan.

End of War Means More Work For Community Chest Agencies

With the ending of the war the need for social service of all types in Victoria has increased, not decreased as might be supposed by some. This need is pointed out by the Community Chest campaign for $83,000 which opens its 10-day campaign today.

The 20 member agencies have cut their budgets to the bone, and every effort has been made to keep costs at a minimum, but the need for service is there.

With servicemen flocking back to the community in increasing numbers, and with the resulting added crowding in already overcrowded housing accommodation, the work of the Family Welfare groups will be doubled and trebled. They get $9,168 of the $83,000 and Children's Aid receive $15,524.

The Y.W.C.A. with its Travelers' Aid workers are on hand to help the men and their families as they arrive, and they report that August was the busiest month in their history. Indications are that September will be even heavier; $9,100 goes to the Y.W.C.A.

The Citizens' Rehabilitation Council, a new member agency, devoted to the work of helping servicemen become re-established will receive $2,100 toward its work.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the work of which in the past is well-known and appreciated, is geared to help any blind serviceman who may be coming back, as well as any blind or near-blind person in the community. It will get $2,800.

Other agencies participating in the fund, and none of which make any other appeal are the Boy Scout Association, Columbia Coast Mission, Council of Social Agencies, Citizens' Recreation Room, Esquimalt Friendly Help, Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp, John Howard Society, Oak Bay Friendly Help, Saint John Ambulance Assn., St. Joseph's Hospital, St. V. de P. Society and auxiliary, Social Service Index, Victorian Order of Nurses, Women's Workroom and Y.M.C.A.

NATION-WIDE DRIVE

OTTAWA (CP) — Community chests, united welfare and individual social agency campaigns for funds, with a combined total of more than $6,000,000, opened today in 40 cities across the country.

The money raised in the drives, most of which continue for the next two weeks, will be spent during the coming year to finance the home services of 493 Canadian social agencies which assist families in trouble, care for abandoned, neglected and orphaned children, the sick and the aged.

To Establish Volunteer Force While Permanent R.C.A.F. Formed

OTTAWA (CP)—Organization of a volunteer interim force to serve for two years, presumably during which time size and nature of a permanent R.C.A.F. will be made known, was announced today.

Announcing the setting up of the interim force to serve to Sept. 30, 1947, at present active service pay and allowances, Air Minister Gibson said that "since all personnel in the interim air force are to receive special consideration for enlistment to the regular force, applications will be carefully scrutinized before being accepted.

The interim force will serve under similar terms to those applying to the occupation force of 10,000 airmen overseas. The occupation force, however, is made up mostly of airmen selected for that service.

The army had previously announced plans for an interim force of volunteers who would be chiefly concerned with the big demobilization program. Conditions of service are similar to that of the air force plan.

It was reliably learned the navy will announce plans for an interim force, serving under similar terms, later this week.

The interim air force will not necessarily take care of all air force manpower needs, and an accompanying statement said that "continuing requirements, and in particular the demobilization of personnel and the disposal of equipment, will necessitate the retention of some personnel in addition to those joining the interim force."

It added that such personnel would be released immediately they were no longer needed.

No indication is given as to the size of the interim force. The announcement said:

"Application for employment in this force will be accepted both from personnel still serving and from those who have been transferred to the R.C.A.F. Reserve. Serving personnel are being asked to state whether they wish to continue in the new force. Those who have already demobilized should write to Air Force headquarters for application forms.

"However, members of the R.C.A.F. Reserve who do not apply for service with the interim force are not precluded from applying for service with the regular force when it is organized. Applicants still on the active list will not be demobilized if they can be usefully employed in their present rank.

MAY WITHDRAW

"If it is not possible to appoint applicants in their present rank when the establishment of the new force is decided, personnel, if they so desire, will be permitted to withdraw their applications and be released in accordance with their demobilization priority rating. . .

"Personnel serving in the R.C.A.F. at the time of their re-engagement will continue to accumulate war service gratuities and other post-discharge benefits until March 31, 1946. Personnel who on Aug. 31 were serving beyond the western hemisphere and who remain continuously on such service beyond March 31, 1946, will continue to accumulate these gratuities and benefits while so serving.

"When terms and conditions of service in the postwar permanent force are announced, applications will be invited from those in the interim force and the R.C.A.F. Reserve. Service during the transition period will count toward eligibility for pension in the case of appointment to or enlistment in the permanent R.C.A.F."

Former Canadian Secretary of State, Labor Minister, Dies

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Norman A. McLarty, 56, former State Secretary in the government of Prime Minister King, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home here early Sunday.

HON. NORMAN McLARTY

The former minister, who resigned from the government shortly before the last general election and retired from politics, had appeared in excellent health Saturday at the wedding of his daughter, Sheila, who was married to Lieut. John McCaughey of Ottawa, a member of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Mr. King proposed the toast to the bride and Mr. McLarty responded and seemed his usual jovial self. Later, at home, he gave no indication of illness. During the night, however, he got out of bed and fell, dying almost immediately.

Rev. A. Ian Burnett, minister of St. Andrew's Church, who officiated at the wedding, informed a shocked congregation of the death of one of its most esteemed members.

HONEYMOON HALTED

Mrs. McLarty, wife, formerly Dorothy McColl, daughter of J. B. McColl of Toronto, and his younger daughter, Barbara, were at home and the newly-married couple, who had started on their honeymoon, returned from their journey.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at St. Andrew's Church and the body will be taken to Toronto for cremation.

Since retirement from the government, Mr. McLarty, a native of St. Thomas, Ont., had been busy with philanthropic and literary organizations, particularly in efforts to assist men and women returning from overseas.

He was a man whose towering figure, happy smile and his never-failing humor spread gaiety among all who knew him. His company always was welcomed.

To Mr. McLarty public life was a duty and when he decided to retire he said:

"I have been in Parliament for 10 years and a Minister for six, and I think I have done my share, but I always stand ready to do anything I can to better the lot of the returned men and women."

M.P. FIRST IN 1935

Elected in 1935 as Liberal member for Essex West, which includes part of Windsor, he filled three different portfolios—Postmaster-General, Labor and State Secretary.

Prime Minister King, in a tribute to the late ex-minister, said the death would be deeply felt by a wide circle of friends and associates, and Canada as a whole would feel the loss of "one who served its interests faithfully and well in its councils of state and halls of Parliament."

World-Famed Tenor Dies in Ireland

John McCormack

DUBLIN (CP)—John McCormack world-famous tenor, died at his home in County Dublin Sunday night after a brief illness. He was 61.

The great Irish singer had been living quietly in Booterstown, just outside Dublin, under a doctor's orders to give up singing.

"I guess my bellows are overstretched from holding those long ones," he said in an interview only two months ago. "While I was on a concert tour for the British Red Cross my health broke down and the doctor ordered me to leave the concert stage and come to Ireland for a rest."

Later Mr. McCormack's health was reported to be somewhat improved. He still had difficulty in breathing, however.

The singer who held world audiences spellbound with "Mother Machree" and "I Hear You Calling Me," was described as the finest tenor Ireland ever produced.

He sang in every country of the world except Russia and those of South America.

Mr. McCormack made more than one concert tour in Canada both just before and just after the First World War.

He retired to his native Eire in 1928, but returned to London in 1939 to sing for the Red Cross in a formal farewell concert at Albert Hall.

British naval losses in getting convoys to Russia by the northern route are two cruisers, 10 destroyers and six small warships.

Both Sides Stand Firm in Auto Strike at Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The strike involving some 10,000 production employees of the Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., shapes up as a final test of strength between the company and Local 200 of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) after more than four years of troubled relations.

Union officials today said their stand in the collective bargaining walkout they called last Wednesday is unchanged, and they will keep the plant, largest automotive works in Canada, closed until the company yields to demands for such union security clauses as a union shop and dues check-off as well as other provisions in a new bargaining agreement.

Since the strike began company officials have issued no statements and have declined comment on virtually all developments. But one source said there has been no change in its position of refusal to meet any of the union's demands.

Sunday night strike committees were organized by Local 195 of the U.A.W. in preparation for possible sympathy strike action with Local 200. Local 195 has 8,000 members in 30 Windsor plants employing 12,000 workers and, it was said, the date for a strike of members of this local will be subject to recommendation of the U.W.A. policy committee in Windsor and approval of the international executive board of the union.

Himmler Alleged Boy Scouts Spied For Great Britain

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN (AP) — A secret Gestapo handbook published for Heinrich Himmler's agents after the fall of France claimed International Boy Scout Movement was an instrument of the Brtish secret service, Allied officials said today.

The document, third of a series of "information handbooks" uncovered by Allied officers from the Reich security police headquarters in Berlin, alleged the Boy Scouts were part of a great British spy system, and youth leaders were recruited all over the world to transmit intelligence to Britain.

The handbook claimed Boy Scout leaders abroad were recruited to transmit valuable information to Britain, and alleged that "liquidation of Austrian pathfinder formations also produced evidence of a connection of the Boy Scout movement with the secret service."

The handbook bared one of the quirks of Gestapo psychology—a profound feeling of inferiority toward the British intelligence service.

A long description of the British secret service system, expressed bafflement over its apparent decentralization, over the means whereby it was financed and over its mysterious leadership.

Himmler's handbook also asserted that oil companies in their reports to mother firms, both in Britain and the United States, had given military information to Allied governments under cover of their business statements.

Nigel Morgan Heads L.P.P. Branch in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nigel Morgan, Victoria-born board member of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.) was unanimously chosen provincial leader of the Labor Progressive Party at the closing session here Sunday of the party's annual convention.

He replaces Fergus McKean, who recently was expelled by the national committee. Mr. McKean's expulsion was unanimously approved by the delegates.

Mr. Morgan is well-known in B.C. labor circles, having sat as a member of the executive council of the Canadian Congress of Labor and represented the C.C.L. as alternate delegate at the inaugural conference of the new World Trade Union Federation. He was Labor candidate in Alberni in the last federal election.

Mr. Morgan will assume his new duties Sept. 30, when he expects to wind up his affairs in the I.W.A.

Fire Destroys Car

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—The rear coach of a two-car B.C. Electric special train was destroyed and a second partially damaged by fire which broke out at noon Sunday near McLellan station. No passengers were on board.

The train was bound for Chilliwack to take on hop pickers. Cause of the fire was unknown. It started in the front vestibule of the rear coach.

3-Time Premier Of France Dies

ANDRE TARDIEU

LONDON (CP) — The Swiss radio said today that former Premier Andre Tardieu of France died today at his home on the Riviera.

Tardieu served his country for 40 years as legislator, soldier, diplomat, seven times as cabinet minister and three times as premier. He was the last surviving French signer of the Treaty of Versailles.

Born in 1876 of an upper bourgeois family, he entered the diplomatic service at 21, served with distinction in the First Great War and after diplomatic service in Washington, entered politics in the early 20's.

Results of supplementary examinations for university entrance and senior matriculation standing will be available to students this week.

No public announcement of the results is made by the education department, which mailed to the writers of the examinations their standings last week.

OUR HYDRA-HEADED MONSTER

THOUSANDS OF VICTORIANS REMEMBER with a shudder the disastrous effect of inflation after the termination of the first Great War. Uncontrolled prices soared skyward and dealt the national economy a blow which everybody in the middle and lower income brackets felt where it hurts most—in the pocket. Let us make it plain that this domestic financial trouble reached its most acute stage, not during the conflict, but after the fighting had ceased. History will repeat itself unless every Canadian makes it his or her business to understand how necessary it is for the government to retain that machinery which prevents surplus purchasing power from wild bidding for consumer goods that are in short supply.

No doubt the war which has just come to an end introduced millions of adult Canadians to the word inflation for the first time. The government is fully aware of this; and no sane person should complain that its warning against the peril now beginning to manifest itself has taken on a measure of brutal frankness. For the danger ahead is very real. We get a glimpse of it from the pressure which is being brought to bear on the Washington administration—pressure from agencies and groups that are losing their sense of economic proportion in the excitement which the sudden breaking out of peace has caused.

The chief complaint against President Truman is that he is not making enough haste in his reconversion plans, that he ought to assist his country back to "normalcy" by abolishing without further ado those controls which have kept the vicious inflationary spiral within reasonable limits in the United States. Yet none better than the chief executive himself knows that the leading economists in Washington have frequently pointed with something akin to jealousy to the efficient manner in which the cost of living in Canada has been kept to less than half the increase of 26 years ago. Here is ample justification for the course laid down by Ottawa in 1941. The cost of living in the United States rose much higher than in this country because the late President Roosevelt did not ignore the pressure to go easy on a drastic policy of wage and price control until the sheer weight of circumstances forced him to act.

Since the economy of Canada and the United States is in many respects interwoven and interdependent, any hasty relinquishment of these basic controls in the neighboring Republic must of necessity influence the trend in this country and, by the same token, excite those pressure groups on this side of the line whose ideas of a return to "normalcy" are based less on the common good than on selfish designs. Naturally members of Parliament will try to argue that now the great emergency has passed any form of control is pestiferous. Several speeches in the House of Commons last week carried an ominous ring. Nor is any member of the government sitting up o'night trying to devise some new irritation for the long-suffering citizen. But we have fought a costly war without any really serious inconvenience to civilian life.

Surely this fact is realized. We have lived well through it all. We have paid our way. Our people have responded nobly to the nation's demand for unparalleled sums of money with which to make our contribution to the victory. Canada has become an important creditor country among the nations of the world. In the light of this common knowledge, therefore, the head of every household will be wise to insist that his representative in Parliament argue might and main against the removal of those price controls which are designed to prevent the disposal of scarce consumer goods as if they were valuable antique pieces at an auction sale. Canada's biggest fight for the next year or so is against the hydra-headed monster of inflation.

TEST ON WATER

HAVING PROVED ITS AWESOME power on land through the destruction of Hiroshima and a wide section of Nagasaki, the atomic bomb is scheduled to undergo its first ocean experiment on the surrendered Japanese battleship Nagato. The vessel will be towed 500 miles to sea and the dreadful missile will be dropped upon it.

The result may answer a query raised in these columns some weeks ago. At that time we asked how the new instrument of devastation would alter conventional armament. As the New York Times points out, in its dispatch announcing the plan, the effect of atomic bombing on the craft "may determine the form of navies in the future world order."

The Nagato, though badly damaged, survived attack by 500 United States naval planes. Its relative invulnerability to ordinary bombing should make it an excellent testing ground for the atomic variety. And probably no other circumstances than those which now exist could render available the material for so thorough an experiment.

A $65,000 QUESTION

DID MR. HAROLD WINCH, HEAD OF the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in British Columbia and leader of the official opposition in the late Legislature, tell his supporters at the Vancouver-Burrard nominating convention last week that "within the past 48 hours" he had been offered $65,000 for election purposes by two local companies, and further sums for his own use? The Vancouver Daily Province report of the meeting supplies an affirmative answer to the question, and that paper argues editorially that "young Mr. Winch" said "either too much or too little" when he so informed the assembled delegates. Nor does our able contemporary mince matters in this further suggestion:

"To plead that his mouth is sealed by consideration of honor, after having launched an indictment-at-large against every company having business relations with the government, is too disingenuous an excuse for a man occupying the position of leader of the opposition in the Legislature. The very breadth of the accusation makes it incumbent on Mr. Winch to name names and supply details."

Having broadcast his accusation, as the mainland daily quite properly observes, Mr. Winch "owes it as a duty to himself, to the party he represents, to the public at large, to the Legislature of which he is a paid officer and to every company doing business within the province, to reduce his general charges to specific terms." Until he does so, of course, he leaves the taint of suspicion on every corporation in British Columbia. His desire to protect the "honor" of the would-be contributors to the C.C.F. campaign chest merely emphasizes the offense. As the leader of Canada's third party in British Columbia, Mr. Winch, or the provincial executive, will remain exposed to the charge of protecting "would-be corruptionists"—as the Vancouver Province puts it—until names have been made public and details of the offer supplied.

It is reasonable to assume, too, that many members of Mr. Winch's party—especially those who still think for themselves, in private, if not in "open meeting"—will want to know more about this $65,000 question.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

IT WAS ONLY NATURAL THAT POPULAR emotional reaction should have reflected itself in early demands for immediate retribution against Japanese responsible for the Pacific war. And since Hirohito represents the Japanese to the western world, it was also natural that a strong faction in this hemisphere should have been concerned over the fact the emperor was allowed to remain the nominal head of the Nipponese subject, of course, to Gen. MacArthur's dictation. The "hang Hirohito" cry rose immediately after the announcement of his country's capitulation.

The wisdom of ignoring that clamor, or at least of disregarding it for the time being, seems to be proved in today's announcement from Gen. MacArthur. According to the supreme commander in the Pacific, the occupation forces will probably be reduced to 200,000 within six months if arrangements proceed as smoothly as they have gone to date.

How effectively the victors can divorce the people of Japan from their ultra-nationalism and militarism is a question which time alone will answer. But this much is definitely clear; the progress already made could have been accomplished only by skilful handling of a highly combustible situation. If concessions granted Japan through the maintenance of the emperor have provided the fire insurance against a conflagration throughout the island empire, they have been amply justified. The size of the forces required for occupation, according to the present estimate, coupled with the advances already made for the psychological attack on militarism, furnish conclusive argument in support of the policy adopted. The proof of the pudding, quite obviously, is in the eating.

THE LESSON OF GAS

SKEPTICS WHO ARE DISINCLINED TO believe the atomic bomb can be withheld from use by potential aggressor nations of the future, may well reflect on the non-use of poison gas in the war just completed. During the first Great War, that form of chemical was one of the most hideous weapons employed by men to kill or maim other men. International society outlawed its further employment and to a large extent the edict forbidding it was observed. It is not necessary to suggest that humanitarian motives were the only consideration in its virtual elimination from the picture in the conflict just ended. Gas has certain limitations which might reduce its effectiveness to a point well below the average layman's understanding of its potency.

But the fact remains that despite the widespread provisions made to safeguard whole nations against attack by it, no single country could have expected total immunity had gas been employed. Yet, with the exception of one unsubstantiated report of its use against the Chinese, the armies of the Second World War escaped it. Not even the Nazis in the excesses of their desperation resorted to poison gas. Without regard to the inhuman character of the weapon—and humanity is not unduly emphasized in war—the risk to them of reprisal in kind would have been too great.

Similarly, if the secrets of the atomic bomb become generally known, the same risk would fall upon anyone employing that weapon. While it remains the monopoly of three Allies, the bomb carries a great potentiality for peace. When others can manufacture it, will its very frightfulness relegate it to the position in which gas warfare was placed in the second World War?

Attack On Hull

By B. T. RICHARDSON

WASHINGTON.

IN THE LENGTHY reports on the Pearl Harbor disaster, issued by the U.S. army and navy, no stranger passages are found than those in the army report which criticized Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State. The offence with which Mr. Hull is charged is that he failed to appease the Japanese envoys, Nomura and Kurusu, in order to purchase time for the U.S. generals and admirals to get ready for war.

The report was written by three retired generals of the U.S. army. This revealing sidelight on the judgment of the generals upon the situation leading up to Dec. 7, 1941, brought immediate and vigorous disagreement from Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War whose long career included a period as Secretary of State. When his attention was called to the criticism of Mr. Hull at his press conference, President Truman associated himself strongly with Mr. Stimson's disclaimer. Mr. Hull himself objected.

THE ARMY BOARD which wrote the report on Pearl Harbor consisted of Generals George Grunert, Henry D. Russell and Walter B. Frank. They are unknown outside the United States. They reached the following conclusion among others:

"The action of the Secretary of State in delivering the counter-proposals of Nov. 26, 1941, was used by the Japanese as the signal to begin the war by the attack on Pearl Harbor. To the extent that it hastened such attack it was in conflict with the efforts of the War and Navy Departments to gain time for preparations for war." Then they added: "However, war with Japan was inevitable and imminent because of irreconcilable disagreements between the Japanese empire and the American government."

The U.S. navy board of inquiry frankly recognized that war was inevitable, and made no mention of bargaining for time. It reported:

"That the Japanese policy in the Far East was one of aggression had been well known for many years. Their program of expansion, which envisaged Japan as the dominating power in the Western Pacific, was in direct conflict with the policies of the United States and Great Britain, and opposed to agreements established by treaty."

REFERENCES by the army board and by the navy board, that war was inevitable, that Japan's policies were in "direct conflict" with United States and Great Britain, will strengthen the common American belief that United States was the victim of a calculated and stealthy blow by the Japanese. On the other hand, the contention that Roosevelt-Hull policies brought the war has been shared by enemy propaganda agencies and by extreme nationalists and their newspapers in the United States.

The facts appearing in the two Pearl Harbor reports and from other sources show that, at the instigation of the Japs, the State Department opened negotiations to settle differences with Japan in April, 1941. These negotiations dragged on; the crisis deepened. One of the key documents relied upon in the army report in recounting this aspect of the Pearl Harbor story was Mr. Stimson's private diary of events in Washington. The President, said the army report, had been very careful to be sure that the United States did nothing that could be considered an overt act.

ON NOV. 25, 1941, the "war council" of top officials in Washington met. Mr. Hull read a note he proposed to hand to the Japs. It would have asked for a three-months' truce. The Stimson diary noted:

"It adequately safeguarded all our interests, I thought, secured it, but I don't think that there is any chance of the Japanese accepting it because it was so drastic."

At noon that day, they all met at the White House, and discussed the situation for 1½ hours. Mr. Roosevelt, the Stimson diary recorded, "brought up the event that we were likely to be attacked perhaps as soon as perhaps, next Monday." That would have been Dec. 1, 1941. From the context, however, it is clear the Washington officials were thinking of Guam and the Philippines, not Pearl Harbor. The next day, the diary continued: "Hull told me over the telephone this morning that he had about made up his mind not to make the proposition that Knox and I had passed on the other day (the 25th) to the Japanese, but to kick the whole thing over and tell them that he had no other proposal at all." Mr. Hull then, the same day, gave the Jap envoys a note containing "ten points" which, the army inquiry decided, the Japs took as an ultimatum. It was, according to Ambassador Grew's diary, the document that touched the button that started the war.

MR. HULL HAS promptly denied that this note of Nov. 27 was in any sense an ultimatum. Its contents were made public on the day Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Of this note, Mr. Grew wrote in his published diary that it offered Japan "practically everything she has ostensibly been fighting for." But Japan was bent on military conquest. For ten days Mr. Hull waited for the Jap answer in Washington. It came on Dec. 7, 1941. The envoys met Mr. Hull at 2.20 p.m. and presented a long reply expressing regret that it would be impossible to reach an agreement by further negotiation. During those ten days a powerful Jap task forces of six aircraft carriers and other vessels, which had been training for six months for the job, sailed from Tankan, an unknown base on Etorofu Island, just north of the main Japanese islands, to a point 200 miles north of Pearl Harbor.

Meanwhile, on Nov. 27, a day late as it turned out, General Marshall and Admiral Stark prepared a memorandum that it was essential for United States to gain time and that it was desirable to make agreements with the British and Dutch to issue warnings to the Japanese against aggressive action.

The INTERNATIONAL SCENE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The United States proposal, now before the Big Five Council of Foreign Ministers in London, that Italy's colonies be placed under international trusteeship of the United Nations looks like a master stroke in the interests of world peace.

The Mediterranean theatre is one of the most important zones strategically on the face of the globe. Throughout the centuries the country or alliance which had the upper hand in the Mediterranean also has had a mighty grip on Europe. The blue waters of this great sea have contained the elements of both peace and war—to be conjured up to suit the desire of the power in control. That is as true today as it was before the Hitlerian conflict produced epochal changes.

Thus, if the Allies now can insure that this great water highway is bordered by territories pledged to peace, one of the worst danger spots will have been removed from the eastern hemisphere. It will be hard on Italy to lose her African possessions and the Dodecanese Islands, but she certainly can't be surprised if that's the price she is made to pay for Mussolini's gamble with the devil.

This is, of course, a matter of moment to Britain, since the Mediterranean highway is an essential link in her chain of Empire. It's the shortcut to her Far Eastern possessions and Dominions via the Suez Canal. It gives her quick access to the Middle East—and don't forget that this means oil.

However, there has been no public indication that Britain wouldn't welcome the trusteeship arrangement. It would, to be sure, mean a readjustment of the influence she has wielded in the Mediterranean heretofore, but it would give her the security she desires.

Letters To The Editor

SWINGING THE CLASSICS

I do not imagine that there is any means of protecting our gems of classical music from the demoralizing plagiarism of swing composers. But possibly an appeal by some high educational and musical authority, addressed to all concerned, from composers to audiences, might have some effect in discouraging this desecration.

Up till now, I suppose Tchaikowsky has been the chief victim. However, the composition to which I wish to refer in this letter is Chopin's magnificent Polonaise, which is so beautifully rendered in the current film "A Song to Remember."

What the swing composers have done to it is appalling, and the result is a slow, sensual parody, with sentimental words, to which thousands of our young people are listening every day, and attributing it to Chopin.

I am sure that great composer would turn in his grave if he could hear his immortal music so desecrated.

TIMELY ACTION

May I, through your columns praise the actions of two of our citizens who prevented a tragedy at Elk Lake on Wednesday afternoon? Mr. Harry Foster Sr. and Mr. Arthur Pass of Orillia Street were fishing when they noticed an upturned boat in the centre of the lake. Two small boys were clinging desperately to the sinking craft. Hastily the two men rowed to the scene and at a critical moment saved the lives of Guy and Michael Landon, sons of Brig. Landon of Pacific Coast defences.

These lads had found the lakeshore monotonous and diving was better in deeper water. Michael though exhausted, was little the worse excepting for the loss of his glasses. Guy, though chilled and ready to give up, seemed unaware of the narrow escape.

Mr. Foster has suffered from this nerve shaking and extreme exertion to get to the scene in time. Both he and Mr. Pass are not young men and many others would never have made what seemed to be such a hopeless pull.

I congratulate them both.

Electrical Firm to Serve Vancouver Island Area

The Wadsworth Electrical Co. Ltd., a $50,000 firm which had its start a year ago in a one-man electrical sales and service business, is now ready to extend its activities to all parts of Vancouver Island, William D. Wadsworth, president and managing director, announced yesterday.

"Our aims and objectives are to expand the electrical industry on Vancouver Island and to provide service heretofore unheard of here," he said. "There is nothing in the electrical field that we are not prepared to do, or to advise regarding having it done."

Although the growth of the business has been extremely rapid, it has been based on expert knowledge of the field, as proved by the progress made in the original business.

Mr. Wadsworth opened a radio and appliance store at 735 View Street on May 15, 1944, with a staff of one—himself. By the end of the year he was employing 14 persons, and saw the need of reorganization in order to give wider service with the same efficiency of operation.

As a result the new company was formed, thus bringing under one roof a group of men experienced in all aspects of electrical work.

Offices have been opened at 714 Broughton Street, and two show-display warehouses are already filled with stock of all kinds.

"We will handle electric motors and motor maintenance, power lines, wiring for houses and commercial firms, radios, refrigerators, electric ranges and power-driven precision machinery," Mr. Wadsworth said. "Our maintenance departments are fully qualified to service equipment of all kinds.

"Our firm is prepared to install a wall plug for a housewife or to build a power station and 200 miles of power line," Mr. Wadsworth said. "Our servicemen and engineers are capable of doing either task."

Well prepared to serve the individual with a complete stock of electrical appliances required in the home, Wadsworth Electrical Co. Ltd. is also able to extend the same service to industry on the Island with a wide range of materials and stock.

The logging industry will be offered gasoline and diesel installations, and negotiations are now proceeding with English firms toward distributing British-built machinery here.

Although the new company has a complete business in itself at its Broughton Street headquarters, the View Street store will continue to handle its regular goods. The company has two station wagons and a sedan delivery truck to conduct its work on the island, and contemplates expanding its fleet as soon as more vehicles are available.

At present the company employs 23 persons, and will increase the number as required.

Some of the well-known products to be distributed by the firm are as follows: Winslow oil conditioners, readily attachable to any engine and able to clean oil in 20 minutes; De Walt power driven saws; Porter Cable Machine Co. electric band-saws and other power tools; Fred W. Wappatt Electric Manufacturing Co. power tools; a full line of Carter tools manufactured by Stanley Machine Tool Co.; C. H. & E. band-saws, road rollers, pumps and dredges; and Davis & Wells shapers, jointers, lathes and other precision tools for wood and metal work.

One of the best-known members of Wadsworth Electrical Co. Ltd., is Ronald Winter, resident of Victoria for 30 years, whose electrical service has been extended to thousands of home here.

"I feel," Mr. Winter said, "that in joining this firm I now have the opportunity to give the greater service that the limited facilities of a small organization is unable to provide."

Present superintendent of electrical maintenance and repair for the company, Mr. Winter will have charge of the "trouble-shooting" in homes and commercial organizations that made him so well known in the city. He also has many friends through his many years of service with the local militia.

Secretary-treasurer of the firm is Eric Greville-Jones, who fought with the Imperial forces in the last war, and has made his home in Victoria since 1921.

Alan Dale, well known in Duncan, served overseas with the Canadian Scottish Regiment. He will hold the position of superintendent of electrical construction in the new company.

Offices of Firm In Sussex Hotel

Premises at 714 Broughton Street, occupied by Wadsworth Electrical Co. Ltd., are well known to many Victorians as the Sussex Hotel squash courts, now reconverted into commodious offices and show-display rooms.

Offices are upstairs in the building, in the gallery overlooking the courts. The courts themselves will provide the greater interest to the public, as the many machines, appliances and other stock handled by the firm will be displayed on the floor of the former courts, at street level.

made up almost entirely of veterans of this war and the last.

The president and managing director, William D. Wadsworth, served with the Royal Air Force until December, 1943. One of the few fighter pilots who held the line during the battle of Britain, he was later seconded as a research engineer, and held the rank of wing commander on discharge.

General sales manager is J. A. Cook, until his recent discharge a major in the Royal Canadian Artillery, who had served since September, 1939. A. C. Thomas, former R.C.A.F. sergeant radar mechanic, will direct radio and refrigerator service and repair; and E. F. Wadsworth, who served as wireless operator in the R.C.A.F., will have charge of the company's retail store at 735 View Street.

London Bridge, though frequently rebuilt, has occupied about the original site of Roman days. It was London's only bridge over the Thames until 1750.

Keep Family Allowance In Trust Account

There are two ways of looking at Family Allowance cheques. You can cash them at once, or you can put the money aside as a nest-egg for the children.

Many mothers are opening planned savings accounts "in trust" for the children. This keeps the Family Allowance money separate where it constantly increases at interest and is available whenever required for educational or other needs.

Open a savings account in your name in trust for the children, in which to deposit your Family Allowance cheques. We will add "higher-than-ordinary" interest (2%) to help your money grow faster. Chequing privileges can be arranged.

DEAR ——

POSSIBILITY of another $50,000 being needed from Victoria taxpayers for the Memorial Arena has been hinted by Ald. F. A. Willis. He told the City Council start on the arena had been held up because the architects had been forced to make alterations in their original plans. One of the main difficulties was to get suitable plans for a memorial arena that would be worthy of the name, and still keep within the $215,000 now available.

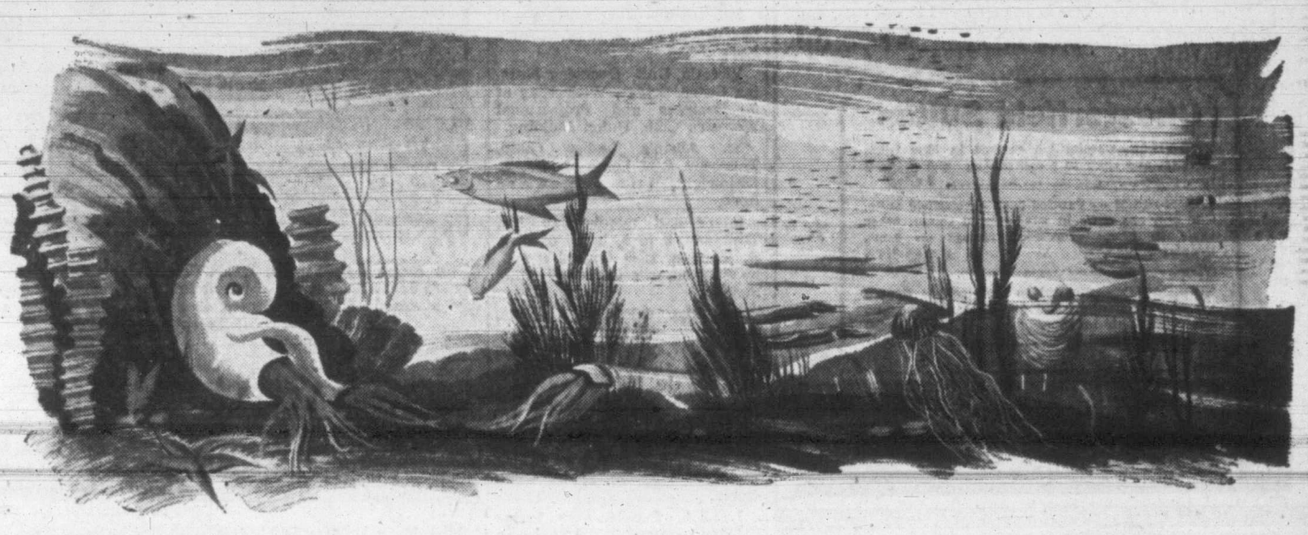
INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OIL



HOW OIL WAS BORN

. . . MILLIONS* OF YEARS AGO . . .

Illustrated above is the birthplace of oil. Drawn from a model built by modern scientists, our picture shows the marine life that existed on the floors of ancient seas which covered large parts of our continents and more than half of Canada—300 million years before man came upon the earth.

A miracle took place

As generation after generation of these strange-looking plants and fish and underwater animals died, they settled down into the mud of the ocean bottom. And all the time, great pre-historic rivers were sweeping seaward the remains of animals and plants that lived in the forests. Along with millions of tons of silt, these too were deposited on the sea floor.

As the ages rolled by, a miracle took place. Buried under the salt water, the mud and silt turned to limestone and shale . . . the fatty parts of the plant and animal matter underwent a chemical change and became oil.

The earth's crust shifted

Then came a time of great upheaval, when the submerged lands thrust upwards, pushing back the shallow, inland seas. The old sea floors, with their layers of rock and oil, were cast up high and dry to form parts of today's continents. Some of the oil seeped to the new earth's surface, to form asphalt pits such as are found in Trinidad and California. But most of it was buried thousands of feet below ground level. There, mixed with salt water and gas, it soaked into sandy pockets and pools where it was trapped and walled in by masses of hard rock through which the oil could not seep.

Hundreds of useful servants

Today these underground stores of oil, found in many parts of the world including Canada, are of great service to mankind. Not only do they provide the gasoline and oil to drive and lubricate our motor cars; they are also the source of essential petroleum products that serve the factory worker, the painter, the printer, the doctor, the railroadman, the road-maker, the housewife and the farmer.

It may surprise you to know, for example, that Imperial Oil Limited makes several hundred individual petroleum necessities for Canadians, in its refineries in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Northwest Territories.

★ ★ ★ IMPERIAL PRODUCTS

* According to geologists, some of today's oil-bearing earth strata were formed in the "Ordovician Age" which began 300 million years ago.

Do You Feel Nervous And All on Edge?

People suffering from loss of appetite and run-down condition with symptoms of nerve strain often need a nerve and general tonic. Glycero Lecithin with Vitamin B (1) supplies tonic ingredients. It is especially beneficial for convalescents. By increasing the supply of Vitamin B (1) in the system, appetite is improved and the system thereby built up to normal, if the loss of appetite was due to a deficiency of Vitamin B (1) in the diet. $1.00 at all Cunningham Drug Stores and other drug stores.

Amy Warn Married Saturday Evening

Maj. G. H. Hamilton performed the marriage ceremony Saturday evening in the Church of Our Lord, uniting Amy Lillian, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Warn, 151 Government Street, and Cfn. Norman Edward Matheson, R.C.E.M.E., younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Matheson of Trail. Philip Hughes was at the organ and T. Kelway was the soloist.

The bride was given away by her father and wore a floor-length gown of white satin styled with a long bodice, bouffant skirt and bracelet length sleeves. She wore a Dutch cap of white satin and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. The groom's gift, a sapphire pendant, was her only ornament.

Miss Winnifred Warn, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a powder blue sheer with appliqued design at neck and waistline. A gold net bandeau, trimmed with pink and blue flowers, was worn in her hair and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The tiny flower girl, Julie-Jane Power, Vancouver, was charming in a sheer pink batiste frock with long skirt trimmed with tiers of scalloped lace. She had a matching Dutch cap and held a pink and blue Colonial bouquet.

Sgt. Fred Hull, R.C.O.C., was the best man, and ushering were Sgt. Ken Mitchell and Cfn. Larry Snyder.

A reception was held at the Warn home, where the couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Warn and Mrs. Matheson. The three-tiered cake centring the bride's table was cut with a Sgian Dubh Highland dagger.

The bride's costume for the honeymoon, being spent at Christina Lake and Trail, was a three-piece brown suit with matching accessories, a yellow floral blouse and corsage bouquet of yellow rosebuds.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: What can a man do who has a dirty wife, one who doesn't keep a neat home or even herself clean? I have one and, although I love her, I can't bear to come home and find the house in a mess, the children untidy and her so slovenly I have to nerve myself up even to kiss her.

A DISGUSTED MAN

Answer: There is nothing you can do with a woman who is so lazy and trifling she won't keep a clean house, or her children properly dressed, or herself looking neat, unless you turn the hose on her, or threaten to leave her. When a woman becomes what the old Gilbert and Sullivan operas used to call a "very imperfect ablutioner," she is past praying for.

Interesting Talk — Tuckabatchee Club of First Baptist Church held a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. W. Holm, Quadra Street. Miss Marjorie Baird of the V.O.N. was the speaker. She told of the work carried on by this organization.

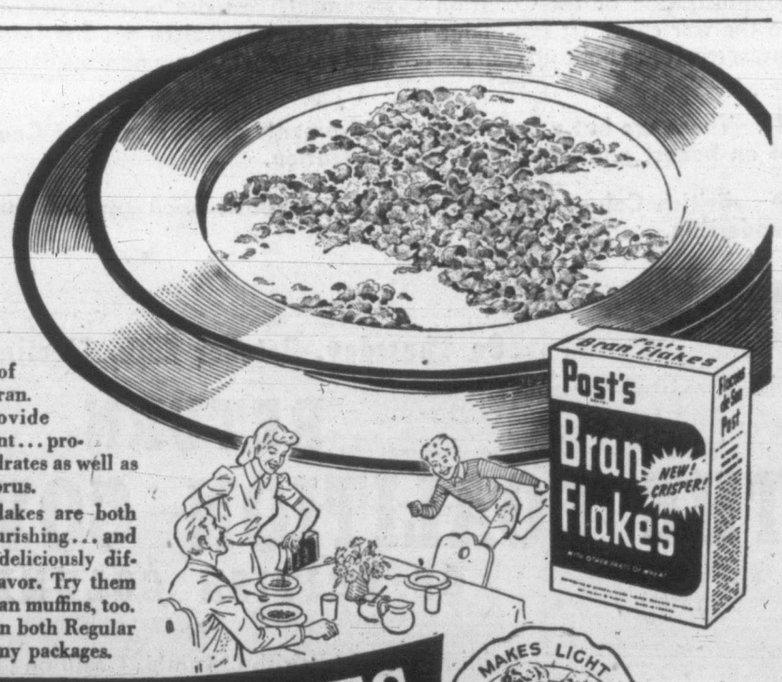
This Way... Bran Tastes Delicious

You get other food Benefits, too



GET the bran you need in Post's Bran Flakes. These crisp, crunchy flakes really are delicious. You'll get other food benefits you need at the same time.

Here's a pleasant way indeed to help prevent the internal sluggishness that often results from lack of bulk in the diet... an effective way to help keep fit and alert!

But Post's Bran Flakes contain other parts of wheat as well as bran. So they also provide wheat nourishment... protein and carbohydrates as well as iron and phosphorus.

Post's Bran Flakes are both healthful and nourishing... and you'll love their deliciously different, nut-like flavor. Try them in light, tender bran muffins, too. Sugarless recipe on both Regular and Giant Economy packages.

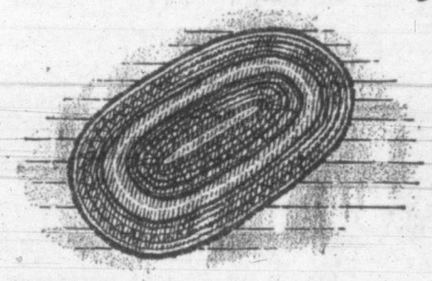
ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

THE CASE OF THE Scatter Rug



On a highly polished floor, a slip on a scatter rug might result in serious injuries. Time away from business means consequent loss of salary, and in addition the extra burden of hospital expenses, doctors' and nurses' bills.

Every day costly accidents occur that quickly reduce savings. An accident is no respecter of persons. It may be your turn next.

Protect yourself and your family against loss by taking out accident insurance for yourself and members of your family.

Our Insurance Department will be glad to talk the matter over with you today.

Tidy Peter, far out of early running, moved up in final quarter, came between horses rounding top turn, came on rail through stretch and won going away. Bonnie Park opened up long lead, looked like sure winner turning for home but flattened out badly in final sixteenth. Peruse was a forward contender all the way. Little Ruler moved up on rail passing stand, was shut off on back stretch trying to get through on inside, had to ease up and never regained full stride in time. Witherngower was never able to reach contending position. Fleet Girl stopped in last part.
Declared—Sourious, Placerville. Overweight—Tidy Peter (1), Little Gloomy (4).

HON. JOHN HART
Premier of British Columbia and Minister of Finance

HON. R. L. MAITLAND, K.C.
Attorney-General of British Columbia

4 YEARS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT

The Coalition Government of British Columbia was formed in 1941. Throughout four difficult years it has not only co-operated to the utmost limit with the national war effort, but it has maintained high standards of provincial administration and laid the foundations for a better tomorrow.

At the forthcoming election, the Coalition Government will appeal to the people for a mandate to carry on. It will seek support on the basis of its record and offer a continuation of its programme of sound progressive administration.

These are the highlights of that record:

SOCIAL SERVICES — This Government has managed its finances well and, despite heavy war costs, has advanced every phase of its social services. Old age pensioners now receive up to $60 per month per couple. Pensions for mothers and their dependents and allowances for unemployables have been increased. Hospitalization and medical treatment benefits have been extended.

LABOR'S POSITION — B. C.'s Coalition Government has led the way in giving Labor the charter it sought—freedom to organize and collective bargaining. Workmen's Compensation, because of recent amendments, is the best in America. Wages are generally higher and working conditions are better than in any other province.

VETERAN'S ASSISTANCE — The Coalition Government is giving every possible aid within its authority to veterans. One million acres of fertile land have been set aside for their use under the Veterans' Land Act. Veterans have been given preference in all provincial civil service appointments. These—and many more—things have been done for the returned men, supplementing the Federal Rehabilitation of Veterans Programme.

AGRICULTURE — This government, recognizing the paramount importance of Agriculture, British Columbia's second industry, has assisted with comprehensive legislation and far-reaching planning. $500,000 has been provided for the purchase of machinery to enable farmers to clear their land. Tax exemptions on all farm improvements benefit every farmer, fruit-grower and dairyman. Irrigation problems are being reviewed in order to alleviate financial difficulties.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION — The B. C. Power Commission, established by the Coalition Government, is the most significant contribution to the economic development of this province in its entire history. Its application will bring higher standards of living to rural areas and will aid in the establishment of new industries and employment.

EDUCATION — For teachers in rural areas of B. C. the highest minimum salaries in Canada have been established. Aid is now being given to municipalities and school districts for educational costs and construction of school buildings. A major expansion programme, totalling $5,000,000, for the University of British Columbia has already been started. The Cameron Commission on Education appointed by the Coalition Government has now completed its report.

FINANCE — During the war the provincial revenues have increased very considerably. Under the wise administration of the Coalition Government, British Columbia has made a major financial contribution to the war effort. It has maintained all essential services, yet has instituted many new and progressive measures. It has built up cash reserves and credits which are now available for its reconstruction programme.

- These are but a few of the achievements of four years of Coalition Government – the record of an honest and aggressive Administration.
- British Columbia cannot afford to embark upon any new form of government under untried leadership.

OXYDOL WASHES SO CLEAN

Your biggest wash comes

WHITE WITHOUT BLEACHING

Oxydol is Far Ahead of Other Soaps in Preventing "Dirty Grayness"

Tests Prove Oxydol Washes Clothes CLEANER and WHITER!

Yes, Whiter! In wash test after wash test—Oxydol proved that it actually washes clothes cleaner and whiter than many other soaps which, unlike Oxydol, fail to get out that last possible trace of stubborn dirt and grime!

White and Bright Wash after Wash! You know, soaps often leave tiny discoloring particles caused by dirt in the clothes and the "hardness" of the water. These impurities stick in the clothes and turn gray or yellow under ironing heat. But Oxydol combats "dirty grayness" in an unusual way. It actually helps prevent grayness particles from forming in the clothes!

New "Hustle-Bubble" Suds Lift Dirt Out! Oxydol's new "Hustle-Bubble" suds are so active they lift dirt out. And they work longer, too—long after suds from many other soaps are all tired out. Yes, with Oxydol all your white things—except for unusual stains—come so clean they're White Without Bleaching. Sparkling white!

So Safe for Colors, Too! And Oxydol is so safe—safe for wash colors, rayons and your own precious hands. Its rich, safe suds wash your colored clothes so clean they fairly sparkle!

Next washday use Oxydol—and enjoy a wash so clean it's actually White Without Bleaching!

Labor Maps Plans For United Front In Civic Elections

Trade unionist demands for the forthcoming elections of civic and municipal councils and school boards were mapped out Sunday night at a meeting in the Liberal Hall sponsored by the Joint Civic elections committee of the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference.

On behalf of the committee, H. Rowland presented for approval and amendment a platform for aldermanic candidates. It called for:

1. Amalgamation of the four municipalities.
2. A publicly-owned, universal transportation system, with universal transfer privileges.
3. Development of adequate public library facilities with the establishment of an art centre.
4. Town planning and an adequate housing program, together with a slum-clearance project.
5. Further industrialization of lower Vancouver Island.
6. Public ownership of utilities whenever possible.
7. Development of a civic airport.
8. Immediate development of harbor facilities.

After considerable discussion the eight-point program was unanimously adopted. By unanimous motion further planks were added as follows:

9. Establishment of a free port in this area, and institution of a campaign to familiarize voters of the Greater Victoria area with the advantages of a free port.
10. Sound working agreements with organized employees be entered into by cities and municipalities.

The tenth point was made in view of the attempts to take over utilities by the municipalities and provincial governments. The delegates felt that employees of such utilities when organized should retain their unions after the industry has been taken over or establish working agreements with the government.

7 POINTS FOR SCHOOLS

Also adopted by the delegates was a seven-point program for the campaign of school board trustees in Greater Victoria. This program called for:

1. Adequate information from qualified persons on the trade union movement be included in the school curriculum.
2. A comprehensive course in citizenship be instituted.
3. Amalgamation of school services, modernization and improvement of schools, and expansion of teaching staffs to ensure a minimum of crowding and better instruction for students.
4. Editing and compilation of text books by the provincial education department and sale of these books at cost to the students.
5. Extension of pre-primary schools.
6. Extension of supervised playground services.
7. Establishment of an up-to-date, fully equipped Greater Victoria technical school in a central location with ample transportation services.

Names of labor candidates for the civic elections will be published by Oct. 20. A campaign is planned to cover all working persons in the Greater Victoria area.

The City Council will be urged to approve appointment of special commissioners of all business agents of unions to act as registrars for the voters' list.

3 Weeks From Peiping

A letter written by Mark King, former Victorian who joined the Shanghai Municipal Police 12 years ago and who was interned by the Japanese, took only three weeks to travel from Peiping to Victoria. His previous letter took nine months from Shanghai.

Received by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth King, 128 Montreal Street, the latest letter says that Mr. King is staying in the Grand Hotel, Peiping, with about 30 others, including Americans. It indicates that he will soon rejoin his wife in Shanghai.

From the commencement of their internment, Mr. and Mrs. King were in separate camps, and until the arrival of this letter it had been believed that Mr. King was in Shanghai, where the previous one was mailed.

No information concerning his treatment while interned was given Mr. King in his letter, but he says he longs for a sight of Canada.

By PETE SALLAWAY

WHEN Mrs. George Appleby's Pondo Pete got down in front of the field in the third race at Willows Park Friday I caught up with an interesting story associated with the gelding. It seems that when any of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Appleby were laid low by sickness in recent years a get-better-quick card always arrived under the signature of Pondo Pete. Last spring the thoroughbred was badly injured and in pretty bad condition. Much to the surprise of the owners innumerable condolence cards arrived at the Lansdowne track addressed personally to Pondo Pete.

ONE ALWAYS hears about a new way to pick winners at the racetrack. During a long association with those people who trek annually to the Willows I have heard about the women who close their eyes and stick a pin through the program to find the bang-tail they will wager on. Others use a combination of numbers while some like to determine their wagers on the strength of the colors of a nag. Then there are the punters who follow some particular jockey or go for a favorite name. Here's the latest. One young lady makes her bets on the strength of an ouija board. And don't ever think she isn't serious about the whole thing. The other day she was quite put out over her bad luck and blamed it all on the fact that she had slept in and didn't get time to consult the board for mediumistic messages. She had better buy a good alarm clock.

IN THE MAIL today is a letter from Clarke Atchison, 131 Croft Street, who takes exception to the fans' selection of an all-star team from the local baseball league. "Although the line-up was chosen by popular vote I am afraid that in a few cases popularity rather than ability was taken into consideration," he writes. Atchison then selects a team which, in his opinion, equals the all-star aggregation. Here it is: Pitchers, Doug Sutton, R.C.A.F., and Don Johnston, Navy; catcher, Johnny Bayduck, Navy; first base, Doug Peden, Army; second base, Lorne Dietrich, Navy; shortstop, Ted Parkins, Navy; third base, Dick Latiff, Navy; right field, Noel Morgan, V.M.D.; centre field, Eddie Shepherd, Army, and left field, Amy Dufault, Army; utility, Toad Garnet, V.M.D.; manager, Laurel Harney, V.M.D.

WHEN Hans Wagner night was held in Pittsburgh recently it recalled the incident when Ed Barrow of the New York Yankees signed the daddy of all shortstops to play for Paterson of the Atlantic League in 1896. In Mansfield, now Carnegie, Pa., Barrow found young Wagner down at the railroad tracks engaged in a rock throwing contest. Barrow had been told that the youngster was going to be one of the greatest ball players of all time and was convinced when he saw him throw a rock as big as your fist 300 feet.

6,500 Pack Willows For Attendance Mark

Victorians established a new attendance record at the Willows track Saturday when around 6,500 jammed the grandstand and enclosure for the seevnth day's program. Association officials were unanimous in declaring it to be the biggest crowd they had ever seen at the plant. Although no official figures are available the betting handle was beyond doubt the highest of the meeting. After the early morning rain the track was muddy.

"Doc" Darbyshire kept up his reputation of saddling running horses when his recently-claimed Tidy Peter carried off the winner's share in the feature United Service Handicap over the flat mile. Following his second straight triumph at the Willows last Wednesday the five-year-old chestnut gelding was claimed by the Victoria owner-trainer.

Allowed to start at odds of a little better than 7½ to 1, Tidy Peter was kept well back of the pace in the early running. Entering the stretch jockey Jimmy Sivewright had his mount third and was able to get through on the rail to catch Bonnie Park and Peruse to win by two lengths. He paid $17.10, $7.70 and $5.45 across the board. The one-two, Tidy Peter-Bonnie Park, was worth $51.90.

JOCKEY THROWN

Fans received an added thrill in the second race when Timely Ayre ducked to the outside fence on the far turn and jockey Tommy Cox was thrown heavily to the track. After an examination at the hospital it was announced the boy had suffered no serious injury. In the same race Special Lady reared in the gate, suffering a cut leg and was excused by the stewards. Association declared a refund for those holding mutuel tickets on the thoroughbred.

Longest win price of the day was seen in the first heat over six furlongs and 30 yards when Lady Serajevo, longest price on the board, cracked down a winner by six lengths to pay $21.55, $8.50 and $4.80 across the board. When the favored Laura G. stopped badly after opening up a big lead in the early running, Lady Pagan came on to cop the second with Peggy Dot second and Lord Broxa third. The daily double Lady Serajevo-Lady Pagan paid off at $80.20.

Making his first start of the season the locally-owned Dr. Pook, an odds-on favorite, won the fourth over five and a half furlongs. The 11-year-old gelding, after hitting the first turn on top, had no trouble with his mediocre field.

Other winning mounts were Eltorado in the third, Dry Land in the fifth and Be Glory in the sixth.

Jimmy Sivewright was the only boy to get down with two winners. Other successful riders were Johny Hruschak, R. Allen, Harvey Duncan, R. Alonzo and F. Wilbourn.

Vancouver Norvans Win Baseball Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Norvans won the senior city baseball championship here Saturday night when they defeated Bellingham Bells for the third time in a row. The score was 8 to 3. A crowd of 1,500 fans watched moundsman "Pills" Purcello pitch the home team to victory.

Short score:	R.	H.	E.
Vancouver	8	11	0
Bellingham	3	9	3

Batteries: Purcello, Warren; McGhie, Baker, Padovan.

Tuckers Score Pair of Wins Over Brentwood

Tommy Tuckers, holders of the British Columbia senior A men's championship, scored a pair of victories over Brentwood exhibition fastball games. After taking the afternoon game 9 to 2, Tuckers edged out the Aces 3 to 2 in the evening.

Five big runs in the third inning swept Tuckers to an easy triumph in the opener. Big feature was the hitting of Billy Duncan, Tucker's second baseman, who cracked out five safeties in as many trips for a perfect average. Porky Andrews, Tucker's centre fielder, poled out three hits, including two doubles and a triple. For Brentwood, B. Sluggett punched out a triple and a double.

Joe Bryant hurled six-hit ball for Tuckers while Aspinall and McLennan who shared the hurling chores for Brentwood were nicked for 13.

CLOSE BATTLE

Night game was a nip and tuck affair all the way with Andrews stealing home in the sixth inning to provide Tuckers with their winning run. Gordie Crymble hurled two-hit ball for Tuckers while Rom Knott on the mound for Brentwood gave up six.

Brentwood moved into the lead with a single run in the first frame. Tuckers tied it up in the second with Brentwood moving ahead with another single in the third.

Neither club scored again until the sixth when Tuckers scored the deciding runs. Holness poled out a two base knock and scored when Andrews tripled. The latter then stole home to give Tuckers the game 3 to 2.

Portland Takes Coast Baseball Championship

The winnah and the new Coast League champions — Portland's indefatigable Beavers. For the first since since 1936 the flag symbolizing the circuit title will fly at the Portland park. The Beavers clinched the 1945 bunting Sunday with a double victory over the San Diego Padres 2 to 1 and 4 to 2 to give them an eight and ahalf game lead with eight to go.

The loop's four top teams, all securely berthed in the upper division, will set their sights this week for the Governor's Cup playoffs which get underway Sept. 25.

Portland will entertain the second-place Seattle Rainiers in the playoffs Wednesday and Thursday of next week, with the remaining games in the Seattle park.

In the other semifinal series the third-place team will play host to the fourth spot club for the first three games and then switch locations under a similar set-up. These two positions held by Sacramento's Solons and San Francisco's Seals are still undecided, the Solons having a two and a half game bulge today.

Seattle dropped four out of six for the week to the Solons, winning the first game Sunday 5 to 1 and losing the nightcap 1 to 5.

Mrs. Pocock Winner Uplands Golf Title

Mrs. R. L. Pocock won the women's B championship of the Uplands Golf Club, defeating Mrs. D. Fletcher 4 and 3 in the final. Mrs. G. S. Waller took first flight honors from Mrs. E. W. Hetherington at the 19th hole.

Mrs. John Riddell was the medalist.

Mrs. E. Jackson vs. Mrs. L. J. Proctor.

Mrs. S. D. Horsford vs. Lady A. C. Coll.

Mrs. B. H. Anderson vs. Mrs. A. M. Jones.

Mrs. R. Bramley vs. Mrs. W. S. Smith.

High School Soccer League Organized

Ernie Costain was elected president of the Greater Victoria High School Football Association at a recent meeting. Neil Swainson was named vice-president and Alf Richards secretary-treasurer.

Representatives attended from Oak Bay, Mount View, Esquimalt, Mount Douglas and Victoria high schools.

Two leagues, senior and junior, will be operated during the season, with fixtures played on Tuesdays.

JOKERS PRACTICE

Jokers senior lacrosse club will hold a workout at the Willows tonight at 7.30 in preparation for the provincial finals, scheduled to be played here some time this week. All players are required to attend.

City Golf Play

Bill Newcombe Medalist

Bill Newcombe carried off medal honors in the 18-hole qualifying round of the men's city championship at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday with a 75. Playing over his home course Newcombe was out in 37 and back in 38 to head the field of 63 by a single stroke.

Tied for second place were Walter Newcombe, Oak Bay, and W. Spaven, Gorge Vale. Fourth place was shared by Freddy Painter, D. Thornton, F. Thomas and Harold Pretty, all with 77s.

Scores of 83 or better qualified for the title flight with five players having to draw for the last three places. In the draw H. G. McKenzie, C. Hemeon and S. Spaven gained the positions, with D. McLean and Dr. Calvert dropping down into the first flight.

Harold Lineham, defending champion from Colwood, failed to qualify, shooting an 89. Brian Hunnings, another Colwood entry, also failed to make the select group with an 85.

With a strong wind sweeping the course all day the scoring was higher than usual.

First round of match play is scheduled for Saturday.

Newcombe's medal winning card follows:

Major Baseball Roundup

Tigers-Cubs Appear In

It looks as if Detroit and Chicago, after a 10-year wait, will meet again in the October world series.

Time is running out on their rivals. With but two weeks of the current campaign remaining, it appeared today that only a spectacular spurt by either of the two runners-up, Washington Senators or St. Louis Cardinals, together with a complete collapse on the part of the leaders, could eradicate the almost insurmountable leads of the front-running Tigers and Cubs.

Including yesterday's double triumph over Brooklyn, 3 to 2 and 4 to 2, which incidentally erased the Dodgers last mathematical chance for the National pennant, the grizzly Bruins boasted a four-game lead over the champion Red Birds, with each team having a dozen games left on the calendar. Of these, five are against each other. The Tigers own a 2½-game edge over the Senators in the American League, with only nine games left to play to six for the Nats.

Chicago's twin victory marked the Cubs' 18th sweep of a doubleheader this season to better the old major league record of 17 held by the Cards. Ray Prim and Hank Wyse were the winning hurlers, the latter becoming the first Cub pitcher to win 20 games in a season since Claude Passeau did it in 1940.

BEAT NEWHOUSER

The Tigers chilled Washington's pennant hopes by halving the doubleheader with their chief rivals. With a throng of 29,590 cheering them on, the capital city challengers downed Detroit's southpaw ace Hal Newhouser in the opener, 3 to 2, but the Bengals barged back to squeeze out a 5 to 4 decision in the closer.

St. Louis Browns retained their one-game lead over the Yankees in their battle for third place by splitting their two games with New York. The Sewellmen won the first, 6 to 2, Yanks the second 5 to 4.

The Philadelphia Phillies came from behind to edge out the Cards, 4 to 3, in the opener, but Cards gobbled up the nightcap, 10 to 3.

Baltimore Scores One-Sided Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sixteen Baltimore batters paraded to the plate in the second inning of Sunday's International League playoff game with Montreal Royals as the Orioles scored 12 runs and coasted to a 19-to-4 victory to even the series at two games apiece.

Short score:	R.	H.	E.
Montreal	4	11	1
Baltimore	19	14	1

Batteries—Roy, Banta (2), Jenkins (2), Kelleher (3) and Todd; Podgajny and Lollar.

TUCKERS HOLD WIND-UP

Tommy Tuckers fastball team will hold a wind-up party at the home of Jim O'Connor Tuesday night. Players are asked to meet at Tommy Tuckers at 7.45.

Busher Becomes Greatest Money Winning Filly

NEW YORK (AP)—Busher, the little equine glamor gal of racing, took her third licking of the 1945 season Saturday but L. B. Mayer's crack three-year-old filly today stands as the greatest money winning filly of all time.

Giving away weight to the rest of the 13 three-year-olds in the $25,000 Added Will Rogers Mile at Hollywood Park, the chestnut filly ran a dead game race but finished a neck behind Norman Church's Quick Reward, a strapping colt that packed 112 pounds. Busher carried 123, including jockey Johnny Longden.

The place money of $6,000 was enough to tilt Busher's earnings to $276,120 and enable her to pass Top Flight's mark of $275,900 by $220. With the $50,000 Derby, $25,000 Vanity and $75,000 Gold Cup ahead of her Busher should pile up thousands of dollars atop her record.

With a record of eight triumphs, two seconds and a third in 11 starts, the western speedster has amassed $215,820 this season. Last year in winning juvenile honors, Busher collected $60,300.

Lou Newman Stars As Mat Scientist

Lou Newman of Victoria, who was forced into a roughhouse bout the previous week, proved himself a scientist in the art of wrestling last Saturday night to score a win over the clever Seehi Samara of New York.

From the start to the finish the contest was as clean as a whistle and the two fast, strong heavyweights were well matched. Samara, as quick as a cat at all times, tripped Lou into a step-over toehold to get the first fall, holding on until the Sooke boy had no alternative but to concede a fall. Newman evened the score by a fall gained after some punishing body slams and got the winning fall in the last round with a leg spread.

Maurice Tillet, The Angel, used his body hug to get two falls on Chief Little Wolf who found the Frenchman too big to handle. The chief tried everything he knew but found himself most of the time in the Angel's bearlike grip and aroused Tillet's anger by twisting the former's nose to break the hold.

Albert Mills, who stars best against the clever wrestlers, proved he can also handle the bad men when he drew with Rube Wright. Rube used his knee as a fighter uses his fist to get the first fall. To even the bout Mills took Wright on the run and slammed him down to spread his shoulders flat.

BAGBY THROUGH

CLEVELAND (AP)—Vice-president Roger Peckinpaugh of Cleveland Indians announced Sunday veteran hurler Jim Bagby would be lost to the Tribe for the remainder of the season.

Bagby suffered a leg injury Aug. 14 in a game with Boston Red Sox.

B.C. Lacrosse Series Here

With the British Columbia intermediate box lacrosse championship at stake, Jokers will battle Ladner at the Willows, Thursday and Saturday nights, in the first two games of a best-of-three series. Third game, if necessary, will be played Monday evening.

Ladner captured the mainland championship in straight games from New Westminster by scores of 13 to 8 and 13 to 9.

Another British Columbia championship will be at stake in the preliminary games, with Oaklands juveniles opposing New Westminster in two out of three playoffs. The juvenile games will start each night at 7 with the intermediate tilts scheduled for 8.30.

Winner of the Jokers-Ladner series will earn the right to challenge the senior winners on the mainland for the provincial championship.

Murdies, local junior champions, will travel to Vancouver for their B.C. playoff against the mainland winners Oct. 5, 8 and 10. These games will be played as a preliminary to the Mann Cup battles.

Victoria Gets Berth In Pro Ball League

Victoria will have professional baseball next summer. At a meeting of the Western International League held in Tacoma, Sunday, this city's application for a franchise was approved by the directors. Representing the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. Ltd., at the session were Laurel Harney and Bill Straith, K.C.

In a wire received from Harney today he said: "Tough battle but we are in. On way to Oakland, will keep you posted on developments." Harney will confer in the California city with the owners of the Oakland Pacific Coast League team with a view to getting a working agreement in regard to players.

At Sunday's meeting bids for franchises became so complicated that the directors decided to postpone further action until Sept. 30 when a meeting will be held in Seattle.

Two applications were received to operate in Yakima, one from a group of local businessmen, and the other from Yubi Separovich, business manager of the Sacramento Coast League club on behalf of the Solons.

Wenatchee, backed by the St. Louis Cardinals; Bremerton, a surprise contender, and Pasco-Kennewick, the latter by long distance during the meeting, also sought berths.

There are four holdover members from 1942, last year of the league's operation — Vancouver, B.C., Salem, Ore., Spokane and Tacoma.

With five clubs in the circuit and applications from four others it is considered possible that the league will enlarge to eight teams at the Seattle meeting, President Robert Abel indicated.

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Olle Anderson gained a world walking record for Sweden when he covered 25,531 metres (about 15 miles) in two hours here.

He beat the eight-year-old record of Edgar Bruuns, the Norwegian Star, by 268 metres.

Gallant Simon Defeats Mighty Koraway at 'Peg

WINNPEG (CP)—Gallant Simon, owned by Lou Graziano of Vancouver, B.C., won the feature race at Polo Park here Saturday, the $2,500 added Speers Handicap. The three-year-old dark brown gelding had to come from behind in the mile and 70-yard go to win over the mighty Koraway, a 1 to 2 favorite in the wagering. Gallant Simon paid $17.70, $12.35 and $4.60 across the board.

The son of Gallator out of Happony, with jockey Haller in the saddle, won by three lengths. Kinsall from the S. and S. Stable, Winnipeg, was second, and Koraway, K. and K. Stables, Winnipeg, who had won his last seven starts, was third, after leading all the way coming into the stretch. Graziano collected $2,000 as result of the win.

More than 10,000 fans watched Ball and Chain, ridden by Paul Bailey, go to the front in a gruelling mile and three-quarter grind from the start and stay there. Owned by Ned Northwood, Stavely, Alta., the chestnut mare won going away by more than seven lengths.

Victoria Box Girls Win at Chemainus

Playing at Chemainus Sunday, Victoria Box and Paper Girls trimmed the Chemainus seniors 12 to 8 and the Co-eds 16 to 6 in exhibition fastball games.

In the afternoon game the Chemainus Seniors tied the game in the sixth inning at six all. But under the hard-hitting of Gwen Hay, Martha Hanowski and Dot Lehman, the local girls went on to win. Helen Pettigrew was the winning pitcher.

Against the Co-eds the Victoria girls were behind for the first part of the game. However, smart pitching by Maizie Medler and hits by Eva Barr and Gwen Hay proved too much for the Chemainus youngsters. In the last two innings, Victoria Box came from behind to score 11 runs.

After the first game, 30 ball players and friends were guests of Bert Challoner at dinner.

Cote Runs Second In 30-Mile Event

LONDON (CP) — Sgt. Gerald Cote of Montreal and St. Haycinthe, Que., finished second to Tommy Richards of Wales in the South London Harriers' 30-mile marathon Sunday in which more than 40 Empire contestants participated.

Both Richards, who also won the event last year, and Cote beat the Harriers' record. Richards finished in three hours, eight minutes and 49 seconds, about nine minutes under the former records. Cote's time was two minutes under the record, despite taking the wrong road fork on the last lap and having to go around again. His time was three hours, 15 minutes and 43 seconds.

Morrison-Stranix Win Golf Button

Bob Morrison and Lieut. R. Stranix gained possession of the city golf button Sunday by scoring a 1-up victory over F. Clarkson and V. Painter at the Uplands Club.

The winners had a best ball of 69, one stroke better than their opponents. The match was all square at the ninth.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Sam Snead took $2,000 top money Sunday with a final score of 277 in the southwest invitation golf tournament.

Tied for second place with 286 were Ben Hogan and Vic Ghezzi.

Byron Nelson placed fourth with 288, carding par 71 on the last round.

Bishop Urges Plebiscite On B.C. Liquor Law Reform

The government of B.C. was urged by Bishop H. E. Sexton, Anglican bishop in B.C., in an address Sunday, to go to the people with a plebiscite to ascertain if reform of present liquor laws is wanted. At the same time he advised his listeners to vote for such reform, as an "urgent necessity."

In the course of his address Bishop Sexton said, "I am not suggesting any measure for an increase in the sale and consumption of alcoholic liquors. I am merely urging a reform in the liquor laws to permit the consumption of alcoholic beverages in a normal, open and healthy manner.

"Liquor should not be regarded as a fetish but as a reasonable ingredient of a meal and an aid to good fellowship: not as a drug to be consumed in shame-faced seclusion or as an inducement to depravity. Believe me, the reform of our present Liquor Act is an urgent necessity, and, if the government should wisely consult the electorate as to whether alcoholic beverages may be served with meals in public places, I would advise all my hearers to reply with a most decided 'yes'."

CONTINUES CAMPAIGN

In continuing his campaign for the reform of B.C.'s liquor laws which he began with a speech to the Rotary Club, July 19, Bishop Sexton denied that he was the friend of liquor interests "because I have the boldness to approach the question of temperance from a somewhat new angle," any more than prohibitionists can be "criticized as being supporters of the bootleggers." In fact he said, a short time ago he was mainly responsible in preventing the erection of an additional beer parlor in the Greater Victoria area.

He reiterated his stand that true temperance is not prohibition, but moderation—not only of drinking but eating. He pointed out that many men who drink, such as Winston Churchill are among the greatest, while complete teetotallers, such as Adolf Hitler can "be thoroughly evil and worthless as well as a moderate drinker." However, he continued "I certainly agree that when alcohol is taken in excess it is wrong, as well as harmful."

PROHIBITION UNWORKABLE

The bishop stressed that total prohibition has been proved unworkable both in B.C. and elsewhere, notably the United States and Russia. He gave a detailed history of how it failed in Russia, and how making liquor extremely cheap and easy to get, but strictly enforcing "no sale to anyone who is drunk" had cut alcoholism to a minimum.

"Our great need is," he continued," of course, reform in our liquor law. There should be a new act, or a wholesale revision of the present act, which I am told on good authority, is not altogether workable. If people are going to drink, then let there be facilities for doing it more decently. Let us try to improve a system which seems deliberately or inadvertently designed to make the consumption of alcoholic beverages in any public place as disreputable as possible."

"The present Liquor Act needs to be carefully revised in the public interest, and I would urge the government to make it possible for alcoholic liquor to be served with meals on duly licensed premises."

Commission May Order Free Light Period Here

While experts are still analyzing financial statements of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., it is expected by the month's end the Public Utilities Commission will announce a free-light period for this year.

Because of unusual wartime profits, the Public Utilities Commission arranged to have light consumers of the Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver area receive free light for a period rather than reduce the power rates.

Because of a general tapering off of the impact of war after 1943, it is expected the free-light period this year, which is calculated on 1944 profits, may not be so long as in other years.

Decision, however, will await complete study of the company's financial statements.

Postmen to Seek Better Wages, Hours

Victoria local of the Federal Association of Letter Carriers will take part in the association's Dominion-wide campaign for higher wages and better working conditions, F. Hurry, Victoria local secretary, said today.

The association will seek a 40-hour week with a wage minimum of $1,500 a year, in comparison with the present minimum of $100 a month with a maximum monthly bonus to a married man of $18.42 monthly. The association would also seek a $2,100 a year maximum, Mr. Hurry said.

Although carriers were supposed to be on a 44-hour working week, large routes had brought working hours higher than that for many, he said.

Victoria letter carriers supported the city's resolution for two deliveries a day, he said, but added it was impossible to effect better deliveries at present with the present staff. However, he added, the carriers were in support of a second delivery to be brought into effect as soon as possible.

He suggested the second delivery could be obtained by employment of ex-servicemen.

Slash Burning Soon As Fire Hazard Ends

Slash burning on Vancouver Island forest lands, logged off during the year, is expected to be under way any time now with the B.C. Forest Service headquarters here reporting weather conditions ideal for burning following rains last week.

General improvement in the forest fire hazard is noted in the weekly fire report with conditions in the Nelson district, area of the greatest fire loss during the season, improved to the extent where lifting of closure orders in certain small districts is now anticipated.

Until Sept. 30 operators are required to secure permits from the Vancouver district forest ranger for burning slash. Permits are only required in the Vancouver forest district which includes all Vancouver Island.

To date this year 1,704 forest fires have occurred throughout the province and have been extinguished at a cost of $276,105, compared with 1,608 fires which had cost the province $117,713 in 1944 to this date and 968 fires, which cost $18,881, to this date in 1943.

The firefighting cost in the Nelson district this year has been $182,647 to extinguish 571 fires.

Mill Bay Ferry Resumes in December

Ms. Cascade, which for years has plied between Brentwood and Mill Bay, will be back in operation again next December. The ferry service was discontinued this spring when no companies bid for a provincial works department contract to operate the service.

According to an announcement of Works Minister Herbert Anscomb today the ferry will operate on a $5,000 a year sugsidy paid by the province. Previously the subsidy was $7,000 a year.

An improved service has also been arranged in the new contract with Oswald H. New of Vancouver, who has purchased the Ms. Cascade. The ship will make eight round trips daily during the summer and six during the winter. This is one more trip than previously.

The new operator, Mr. Anscomb said, hopes to have the service ready to start operation in December, but extensive repairs must be made to the hull of the ship.

The new contract is for five years.

Union Officials Barred From V.M.D.

J. D. Smith, president and acting business agent, and F. H. Dyke, secretary-treasurer of the Boilermakers' Union, which split with the main group in a recent dispute with the Shipyard General Workers' Federation, were refused admission to shipyards of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., Mr. Smith has reported.

Yarrows Ltd. had sent no reply to a letter requesting permission to enter that company's shipyards on union business, Mr. Smith added.

The Story of the Atom — No. 11: Busy Scientists—and Spies

1. The discovery of plutonium was of great importance. Like U-235 it could be made to explode by atomic fission. Furthermore, unlike U-235, it could be separated from the other forms of uranium, U-234 and U-238 with comparative ease. The discovery of plutonium was a lucky find in the days when every minute counted. To make plutonium, the scientists imbedded small pieces of uranium in graphite, to slow down neutrons that were used to attack it.

2. Along with the scientists, spies had been busy at work. It was heard that a huge nitrate plant at Rjukan, Norway, was being used by the Nazis to make heavy water, perhaps for the production of the atomic bomb. In February, 1943, a group of Allied parachute troops and Norwegian underground blasted the plant in a bold raid. The plant was rebuilt and was bombed out of existence again by Superfortresses.

3. The scientific research on atomic energy in the United States had been under the direction of Dr. Vannecar Bush, head of the office of Scientific Research and Development. In June, 1942, when the work reached the manufacturing stage, the War Department turned complete control over to Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves. Cost of the project amounted to $2,000,000,000 up to July 1, 1945.

4. The U.S. government started erection of two plants to manufacture atomic bombs in December, 1942. One was located on 58,000 acres of land, 18 miles west of Knoxville, Tenn., and the city of Oak Ridge, was built and operated by the government, to accommodate the workers at the plant. They lived in modern dwellings and were provided with ample recreational facilities. The other plant was on a government reservation of 430 000 acres, in an isolated area, 15 miles northwest of Pasco, Wash., where 17,000 workers and their families were brought in. Strictest secrecy was maintained.

Brig. Robert Wyman Industrial Agent

BRIG. ROBT. A. WYMAN

Brig. Robert A. Wyman, C.B.E., D.S.O., E.D., who commanded the 2nd Canadian Armored Brigade in the recapture of France and retained that command until badly wounded, has been appointed industrial agent of the Canadian National Railways for British Columbia, according to an announcement made today by W. T. Moodie, general superintendent of the B.C. district. Brig. Wyman will take up his new duties by the end of the month.

The establishment of an industrial office in Vancouver is a recognition by the company of the growing industrial activity and expansion British Columbia will participate in following return from war to normal business conditions, stated Mr. Moodie.

Brig. Wyman has had a lengthy service with the Canadian National. He started in Edmonton as a call boy in June, 1918, at the age of 14. In 1924 he became a clerk in the office of the superintendent of transportation and in 1928 he was appointed timekeeper. On Nov. 7, 1939, he took leave of absence to take active service duties with the R.C.A. and remained in service until last month.

Brig. Wyman enlisted in the 92nd Field Regiment, R.C.A., in Edmonton as a gunner in 1921. In 1924 he was promoted to the rank of major and given command. In 1937 he was appointed lieutenant-colonel and given command of the 20th Bield Brigade.

At the outbreak of war in September, 1939, he was placed in command of the 3rd Field Regiment, R.C.A., of the 1st division and moved overseas. In 1941, he was returned to Canada with the rank of brigadier to command the support group of the 5th Armored Division. In 1942 he was appointed to succeed Maj.-Gen. Worthington in England in command of the 1st Canadian Army Tank Brigade and took his command to Italy in 1943. He went through the Italian campaigns until the completion of the Ortona campaign in February, 1944.

He was returned to England to assume new duties as brigadier, Royal Armored Corps on General Crerar's staff at Army Headquarters. During the planning for the invasion of France, and at the request of Field Marshal Montgomery, Brig. Wyman was appointed to command the 2nd Armored Brigade for this operation. He landed on D-Day with his formation.

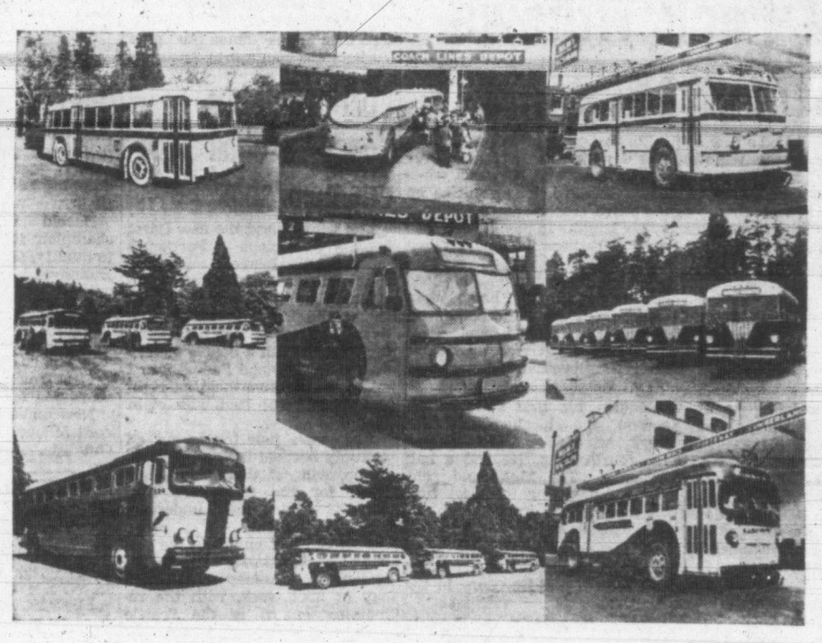
CANADA'S BEST BUSES



. . . 35 new coaches have been placed in actual service by the COACH LINES since 1940. Modern and luxurious in every respect, these buses are the best in Canada today. Great, streamlined motor coaches for Up-Island lines; smooth-running interurban coaches for Saanich Peninsula routes; smaller, quiet, smartly-designed urban-type buses for efficient service through city traffic and along residential streets; they all play their part in providing COACH LINES Island-wide transportation services.

IN THE PAST FIVE YEARS, THE COACH LINES

1940 . . . expanded routes and services to include all Armed Forces establishments on the Island.

1941 . . . enlarged depot facilities in Victoria and in Island cities to keep pace with greatly increased traffic.

1942 . . . in co-operation with the Dominion Government Transit Control Office, developed gasoline and tire savings, while carrying an ever-growing number of essential passengers.

1943 . . . progressively increased schedules on Greater Victoria lines and in Saanich as wartime travel requirements mounted.

1944 . . . reduced fares on all Saanich routes and further expanded services to handle nearly three times 1940 traffic.

1945 . . . with new equipment, new schedules, new routes in operation, put postwar plans into action in accordance with policy to supply best possible transportation services to all Vancouver Island.

Cameron Suggestions May Cost B.C. Millions

An entirely new system of government grants and local taxation in which the province would bear a larger proportion of the total public school education bill was reported today to be the gist of the Dr. Max Cameron report recommendations on education costs, now in the hands of the B.C. cabinet.

While findings of the commissioner appointed by the B.C. government have not yet been made public, it is believed the recommendations, if instrumented, would cost the government several million dollars.

Provincial government education costs have increased $1,314,721 or 27 per cent since 1941. This increase includes about $500,000 for the University of B.C.; $100,000 in student-aid bursaries and loans, $1,000,000 for special aid to all school districts.

Total cost of education for the province in the 1945 fiscal year is estimated at $5,297,264, plus a special vote of $800,000 for new school buildings.

Mayor Percy George has given his endorsation to Parent-Teacher Week, Oct. 7 to 13, at the request of the organization. Observance of the week is to acquaint the public with the aims of the P.-T.A., which works for the welfare of Canadian children and to secure adequate laws for their protection.

B. Hallowes, a prisoner of war in Hongkong since the early days of the war, has been released and is returning to England, according to word received by his wife, Mrs. Francis Collis Hallowes, at present in Boston. Their daughter, Mrs. Irving Lundquist, a prisoner of war in Manlia, returned to Victoria last May.

LAC. Joseph R. Trudeau was remanded until tomorrow for hearing of character evidence in city police court today after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of obstructing a police officer in his duty. Constable Norman Bath said Trudeau had tried to pull away from him a man he had in custody on Sunday night.

Magistrate H. C. Hall suspended sentence today after finding a motorist guilty of driving a car with inadequate brakes. The motorist told the court he had had the brakes re-lined on Aug. 28, and had passed a B.C. police driver's test in his car only three hours before a city constable tested his brakes and found them inadequate.

W. H. Furneaux, Dominion president of the Society of Industrial Accountants, will address a meeting of Victoria members of the society Wednesday at the Empress Hotel on "What Management Expects From the Accountant." J. Nelson Allan, secretary, will review the functions of the organization, and K. R. Genn, local accountant, will be chairman.

Flexible Routing Of Buses Stressed By Coach Lines

"Greater Victoria's transportation needs can most efficiently be filled by a united bus service," Harold Husband, general manager of the Vancouver Island Coach Line, said today as the Coach Lines submitted its proposals for a Greater Victoria bus service to the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee.

"Victoria City and its neighboring municipalities are growing steadily in area and density, and constantly require revision and extension of its transportation lines," Mr. Husband continued. "This growth is also reflected in developing business expansion in the downtown areas which are not to be inhibited by arbitrary business section transit routings, but should be encouraged to pursue its normal course, aided by the flexible transportation system which can adapt to normal change.

"This flexibility is inherent in bus transportation which can easily change its routings to meet requirements, both in the business and residential areas.

"Depot facilities, centrally located in the business district, are also a great convenience to transit users, and the ability provided by such a depot for all-street loadings minimizes traffic congestion in the business section. This has been the experience of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines whose depot at Broughton and Broad Streets handles over 500 bus arrivals and departures, and through which pass 15,000 passengers per day.

"The outer areas of Greater Victoria require constant development by transportation facilities, which means a flexible service such as can be provided by bus transportation to serve these areas adequately and to grow with them.

NEW AREAS OPENED UP

"The Vancouver Island Coach Lines had maintained a practical and progressive policy in the municipality of Saanich. This company has opened up whole new residential areas by bus route extensions, and its service and schedules have grown with the needs of the municipality.

"The route submission which has been presented to the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines has been carefully considered with respect to present and anticipated transportation needs, and the plan is specially designed to take advantage of the flexibility feature offered by the motor coach."

'Arsenic, Old Lace' Showing at Cadet

Nuttiness in Brooklyn is no novelty. Neither, for that matter, is murder. But it remained for Warner Bros. to investigate the comic possibilties inherent in such a combination. The riotous result is to be seen in their blood-curdling comedy (does that sound incongruous.) "Arsenic and Old Lace," which stars Cary Grant and opens today at the Cadet Theatre.

An excellent supporting cast includes Raymond Massey, Jack Carson, Priscilla Lane, Peter Lorre, and three members of the original stage company—Josephine Hull and Jean Adair, cast as two lovable but murderously mad old ladies, and John Alexander, who plays their nephew, "Teddy" Roosevelt.

'Roughly Speaking' Shows at Atlas

"Roughly Speaking," the rousing film story about a gallant lady who loses everything but her laughter, starring Rosalind Russell and Jack Carson, opens today at the Atlas Theatre. Set against the moving background of the past three turbulent decades, "Roughly Speaking" also features Robert Hutton, Andrea King, Alan Hale, Craig Stevens, John Qualen, John Alvin and Donald Woods in supporting roles.

Gifted Violinist Plays Thursday

MERVIN CUMMINGS

A drawing-room recital, featuring Mervin Cummings, will be given Thursday evening at 8 at the home of Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, 914 St. Charles Street.

The young Victoria violinist, who has been studying seriously in eastern Canada, will not only be presented in the role of concert recitalist, but for the first time his name will appear on the program as composer and pianist. Mervin Cummings will give three selections for the piano and two for violin and which he has composed.

Mervin Cummings will play the "Concerto in D Minor" by Sibelius and selections of Sarasate, Debussy and Rimsky-Korsakoff.

He will be presented by the I.O.D.E. educational secretaries of all primary chapters, and Mrs. F. F. Beckett, educational secretary of Municipal Chapter, will introduce the young musician, who is a bursary holder.

Mervin Cummings, who is a graduate of Victoria High School, was born in Saskatchewan, and while the family was living in Vernon, B.C., he won the open violin championship at the musical festival there. While living here Cummings worked on boats, was a delivery boy and ran an elevator in order to earn money to carry on his musical studies. He enlisted in the army of his 19th birthday, but was later honorably discharged. His father served with the 78th Battalion in World War I and was a prisoner of war.

WHERE SHORE AND FOREST MEET

By ROBERT CONNELL

ON A PERFECT September day of this second week of the month, a friend and I went down the ever-steepening trail that leads from the level orchard land to the shore near Cormorant Point. The old 180-foot cliff is well disguised here by slides and by the abundant leafage of the deciduous forest below. There it consists in the main of smooth-leaved maple and alder. The maple is the prettier of our two species, notable for its red tinge on young stems, twigs and fruit, and also for the variation in its leaves. On the same tree these may sometimes be in three-point and five-point patterns, and sometimes in a form not unlike that of the vine maple of the mainland. It is a very common tree all along the wooded coastline from here to Sidney but it also occurs inland along stream valleys and in moist hollows. It is a small, slender tree compared with the red alders, some of which are of great size.

But more delightful at this season of the year are the few flowering plants that flourish in the moist soil at the foot of the cliffs and i.. the shadow of the hardwood trees. In fact, the soil is more than moist, for here, where the sands and gravels rest on the stiff Maywood clay, there is at all seasons a perpetual flow of clear, cold water.

On a September day when the uplands are parched and sere, it is a joy to hear the occasional sound of falling water, and to see it making its whispering way across the gravelly beach. At one of these diminutive streams we came on a pair of Townsend sparrows enjoying the cool water, their reddish - brown plumage very evident in the bright sunshine; with the background of pale cliff and the light curtain of foliage they made a charming picture.

The most conspicuous plant in flower at this season is the wild angelica. A European species has long been known in the form of its candied steam used by cooks and confectioners. Ours is posseessed of the same sweet-scented and pleasant-tasting stem. It has large umbels, each umbel made up of 30 or 40 or more long-stalked small umbels of about the same number of minute white flowers with consipcuous stamens

IN SHADY THICKETS

The effect of this inflorescence is peculiarly delicate and starry, much more so than that of any other member of the parsley or umbellate family. The large divided leaves and the tall character of the plant, which may be as much five or six feet high, make if a very striking object in the shady thickets along the coast. Near by it we saw the handsome leaves of a composite plant, the colt's-foot or showy petasites, some of them a foot across, but the flowers made their appearance some five months ago, and are long ago gone.

In a little open space amid these larger things the Siberian montia, miner's lettuce or spring-beauty, is conspicuous because of its many bright magenta pink flowers. It is one of our most persistent bloomers. Begininng sometimes as early as March, it blossoms on as late as October, its only essential being a perennially moist corner. So its association with spring suggested by one of its popular names is only accurate in the sense that it is one of our earliest blooming flowers. When other flowers are long over it is always a delight to come on a patch of this pretty plant.

Although there was an abundance of salmonberry bushes and higher up the wineberry or red huckleberry appeared, none of them showed any fruit. It was the little wood rose, Rosa pisocarpa, that hung out scarlet hips the size of peas and without the adhering calyx that is so conspicuous on other species of rose, and the snowberry was still more plentifully covered with its white fruits. One magnificent bit of color was a scarlet and chrome fungus on a fallen tree as we followed a trail through the woods.

Fontaine Comedy Opens at Capitol

The Capitol Theatre offers something new in screen entertainment today. For one thing, "The Affairs of Susan," Hal B. Wallis release for Paramount, has Joan Fontaine playing the first real comedy role of her career and getting a kick out of it, too. For another thing, Miss Fontaine, as actress Susan Darrell, isn't content with one romance. She wants four and gets 'em—something a little different from the usual Hollywood formula.

George Brent, Dennis O'Keefe, Walter Abel and Don DeFore are the four men with whom the unpredictable "Susie" has her fling before finally making up her mind. The narrowing-down process provides the audience with a laugh treat and, incidentally, gives Joan opportunity to wear glamorous gowns which reveal her to be quite an eyeful.

'Cherry Blonde' Stars In Musical at Rio

Vivian Blaine admits she is a bit superstitious about the numbers one and 21. They appear to be uncannily linked with the meteoric career of the sensational "Cherry Blonde," who, in her second major picture, "Something for the Boys," coming to the Rio Theatre today, enjoys top billing with Carmen Miranda and Michael O'Shea.

She points out that she was 21 years old when on November (the 11th month) 1 (exactly) she was awarded the lead role in her first film break, "Greenwich Village." She was born on November 21, 1921. She signed her term contract to 20th Century-Fox on January (the first month) 21, 1942!

Psychological Drama Comes to Dominion

Jimmy Lydon, Hollywood's sensational young star of "Henry Aldrich" fame; lovely Sally Eilers and suave Warren William currently are seen in what has been hailed as their finest screen roles, in "Strange Illusion."

This PRC production on view at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow marks a milestone in psychological film dramas since it deftly combines romance, baffling mystery and action thrills in a vivid story of dramatic impact.

Edgar Ulmer directed "Strange Illusion," and the supporting cast includes Regis Toomey, Charles Arnt, George H. Reed and Jayne Hazard.

Best-Seller Filmed Now Showing at York

Immediately upon Alan Ladd's release from the army on a medical discharge, Paramount producers started the cameras grinding on the screen version of the Rachel Field best-seller, "And Now Tomorrow."

In this romantic drama by the author of "All This and Heaven Too," Ladd co-stars with Loretta Young in what we are told is one of the most beautiful love stories to reach the screen. Ladd's characterization is a complete departure from his famous "killer" roles. He plays the part of a medico who falls in love with his patient, Loretta, who is engaged to another.

The film, which opens today at the York Theatre, features Barry Sullivan as Miss Young's fiance and Susan Hayward as her younger sister, with whom Barry falls in love. Ladd accidentally learns of the situation, but is professionally restrained from telling Loretta, and speaking of his own love.

Irving Pichel, whose past successes are innumerable, has made a great dramatization, it's said, of this touching story.

Broadway Hit Filmed; At Plaza, Oak Bay

One of the most intriguing love dramas of the new film season is slated to bow in at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres today through United Artists release. It is a screen adaptation of the smash Broadway hit, "Tomorrow The World!" and stars handsome Frederic March and lovely Betty Field as the duo that is so much in love.

The fact that March, in his role as the charming and romantic chemistry professor in a mid-western university, and Betty, as the equally charming and equally enamored school teacher, should find themselves bordering on the brink of matrimony is just about to be expected. But—and this is a big but—the fact that the triangle element in the case should crop up through the machinations of a 12-year-old boy is what makes the story so intriguing.

The boy, Emil Bruckner, played to perfection by young Skippy Homeier, who created the same part when the stage play opened in New York, is the son of March's sister who is dead. The boy's father also died at the hands of the Nazis and the boy has imbibed from this source a curious and devastating code of ethics. From the moment he becomes a member of the professor's household, the boy does his utmost to break up the romance of his uncle and the girl he wants to marry.

EGYPTIAN PRIESTS ASKED MUMMY TO RISE FROM TOMB

The world now has eight important "living religions." In addition, there are "dead religions" which were important to many persons in the past.

One of the "dead religions" was followed by ancient Egyptians. For at least 5,000 years, people in the Nile valley prayed to gods which are strange to us. They built temples and offered sacrifice.

The priests held a high place in Egypt. They owned a great deal of land, and knew more about the art of writing than any other class of people.

Sorrowful wife kneeling before her husband's mummy. Tomb is at right

Many things were said by the priests about the "underworld." When a person died, they declared, his spirit or "double" went to a region where there was darkness and daylight, the same as in the world above.

The priests turned the bodies of the dead into mummies. Large sums were paid to them when they made mummies from the bodies of kings and nobles. In a record which dates back 35 centuries, we find a speech which was addressed to a mummy. Here is the English meanin:

"Arise from you tomb! Loosen your bandages and throw off the sand from your face. Lift yourself up from your left side, and support yourself on your right side. Raise your face so you may look at this which I have done for you."

A few moments afterward, the priest added:

"Your bandages are loosened. The tomb is opened for you. This bread which I provide for you cannot dry up, and this drink cannot turn stale."

In one part of the ceremony, the mummy was made to stand up. A picture left by an Egyptian artist shows the mummy of a man named Hunefer standing in front of his sorrowful wife. Holding up the mummy is the god Anubis, who was supposed to have the head of a jackal and the body of a man.

Little statues of servants were placed in the tombs of some wealthy persons. There seems to have been a belief that servants would keep on working for their masters in the underworld.

The DOCTOR Says:

EDUCATORS PLAY VITAL ROLE IN CHILD HEALTH PROGRAMS

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Health is the first objective of education, according to the National Education Association of the U.S., but many children do not enjoy the benefits of a good school health program. The program should include health protection, discovery and correction of defects, and health promotion.

Schools should be located in suitable places, and the buildings should have proper lighting, adequate ventilation, good seating, fire protection, hand washing facilities, safe drinking water, and sanitary toilets. Crowding large numbers of children together, even under ideal conditions, tends to spread contagious diseases.

Every school child should have a good physical examination at regular times. Physical defects develop in childhood in such insidious ways that they are often present before the parent is aware of it. For example, children may develop nearsightedness before they start school, afterward or before they graduate.

It would be ideal if children going to school for the first time could have their physical defects corrected before starting. Special examinations should be given to children returning to school after illness, before participation in strenuous athletics, and when they are not making satisfactory progress.

CORRECT DEFECTS

Correction of physical defects is possible if the home co-operates with the school. This is the most difficult problem in the development of a good school health program. Usual excuse given by parents for not having defects corrected is that they cannot afford it, but indifference or antagonism is usually responsible, as medical services are available to all through private and public channels. Children should be given a chance to develop to their highest level of achievement and uncorrected defects should not be allowed to interfere.

Contagious disease control includes the immunization of children against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and sometimes scarlet fever. Children should stay home when ill with contagious disease even though it may mean breaking a perfect attendance record.

Health promotion (instruction) is an important part of the school health program. Learning the health rules is not enough as children should also be encouraged to practice them. Again it is necessary for the home to understand what the school is teaching concerning diet, exercise, sleep, care of the body, and attitudes.

School days should be the happiest time of our life, and children who make satisfactory progress in school find them so. The modern home is not arranged primarily for children, but schools are and children would rather be with children than with adults. Unhappy school children are the result of maladjusted home or school life, and they need help in finding themselves.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

Use A Mineral To Make Cloth

You hear that cloth is made from surprising things these days—coal, aluminum, peanuts even chicken feathers. Well, it was more than 86 years ago that Johns-Manville started making cloth from a mineral. It was the mineral Asbestos, the great enemy of fire. Its indestructible fibres are spun into cloth that has many uses.

You'll find these Johns-Manville asbestos textiles used for fire-smothering blankets—theatre curtains—asbestos safety clothing for fighting fires—and fire protection for airplanes. As electrical insulation, they are made into braided tapes and tubing.

Fortunately, Canadian Johns-Manville own and operate the world's largest asbestos mine—at Asbestos, Quebec. And almost every day sees more new uses for J-M Asbestos Textiles that cannot burn and will not rot or decay.

One Woman's Day . . .

By NANCY HODGES

AN AMERICAN ON BRITAIN

FROM time to time during the last few years we have been regaled with some interesting views on Britons and Britain—as seen through American eyes.

But most of those were confined to impressions of the cities, and of British stick-to-it-iveness and courage throughout the bombing.

Or to acknowledgement of British hospitality to the visiting servicemen at a time when hospitality meant real sacrifice on the part of the hosts.

So I read with considerable interest what a visiting American thinks of British farms and farmers.

CALIFORNIA PROFESSOR

PROFESSOR Roy Bainer of the University of California spent three months this summer on a tour of England, Scotland and Wales.

He did so as the guest of the British Ministry of Agriculture, under whose auspices he travelled 6,000 miles in Great Britain.

The professor spent his time with farmers, on their farms, with agricultural research workers and farm implement manufacturers.

So before sailing for the United States, he broadcast his own report of that general farming picture over the B.B.C. network.

AMAZED AT PRODUCTION

AS AN "OUTSIDER LOOKING ON," he was amazed at the response of the British farmer to the call for food production.

He saw how, with the aid of modern equipment, the unwanted pasture, the "commons" and village greens so jealously preserved for public use down through the centuries, had been ploughed up.

As had the great estates, and the vast parklands which dotted the rural countryside—as well as the precious parks in the metropolitan areas.

With the result that the area under crops was increased well over 50 per cent of the 1939 average, in this great revival of agriculture.

FEEDS MANY MORE

THE professor reminded his listeners that while an acre of grass will feed only one or two persons, the same acre planted to wheat or potatoes will feed 20 and 40 respectively.

As a result of this stupendous program, Britain now produces 80 per cent of her own food needs, as compared to only 33 1-3 per cent before the war.

This program was co-ordinated by the voluntary war agricultural committees set up in every county.

And aided by the grant to farmers of $8 an acre towards the cost of plowing, established by the Ministry of Agriculture in May, 1939.

HANDICAPS OVERCOME

DAIRY farmers broke all records for milk production in Britain, despite the plowing up of grazing lands.

The Old Country today is producing all her domestic sugar supply, says the professor.

And the by-products from the sugar beet fields furnish tons of livestock food.

All this was accomplished in the face of labor shortage. For the war took 40,000 skilled workers from the land and put them into the services and in war industries.

Much of the success of the program, he declared due to the Women's Land Army, 85,000 strong, which learned to operate tractors and other farm implements as well as all the other tasks found on farms.

MUCH MACHINERY

THOUGH he found the quality of the field work unexcelled and "the laborer in a sugar beet field an artist with the hoe," it was the machinery which impressed Professor Bainer.

Like many another, he had held the fallacious belief that all farms in Britain were run on primitive methods.

"There are parts of England where the farms are probably more highly mechanized than anywhere else in the world," he observed.

He found over there, as he found in his own United States, that farm equipment was one of the most important factors in winning the war.

FARM OF THE FUTURE

LIKE his Canadian prototype, the British farmer is machinery conscious, and it is hardly likely that he will be content to return to hand methods now the emergency is over.

An article in "Country Life," the farm paper published in Vernon, B.C., envisages a time when Canadian farm life can be elevated to its proper level.

And foresees a pleasant not-too-distant future when rural electrification will rob farm chores of much of their drudgery, and give hardworking farmers and their wives a little well-earned leisure.

It recalls that farmers have had to be scientists in recent years—to keep up their production.

And predicts that they will have to be super-scientists in the years to come—to keep up with modern agricultural development.

INDEED ESSENTIAL

PERHAPS, after all, history may show that the war taught us all one thing—that nations can't live without farmers.

Scientists may discover synthetic foods, but they will never really take the place of those produced by Nature—with the aid of man.

And any economic or social school should recognize the fundamental importance of the agricultural industry as the basis on which any sound system must be built.

Hence the need for governments and people to give every encouragement in their power to the farmers, without whose help victory would not have been possible.

New York

Market Affected By Labor Strife

NEW YORK (AP)—For the third successive session the stock market backed water today as investment sentiment was further chilled by growing labor strife throughout the country.

Leading motors, steels, rubbers and "blue chips" fell one to more than three points at an active opening in which sizable blocks of low-quoted issues appeared. Dealings soon dwindled and extreme recessions were cut, or canceled in numerous cases. While scattered gainers cropped up near the close, minus signs were widespread.

Increases Pared In Industrials

MONTREAL (CP)—Leading securities which recently staged gains in the upswing of papers and industrials had their increases pared in the general easiness of trading up to the final hour today.

Losers in papers were Abitibi 6 per cent preferred, International Paper, H. Smith, Brown preferred, Fraser, Price Consolidated, MacLaren, M. and O., Bathurst and Donnacona.

Anglo-Canadian was stronger in western oils. Hollinger and Bulolo fell back in golds. In junior mines, softer were Sullivan, East Sullivan, Central Cadillac, Nib, Lingman, Malartic Gold Fields, MacDonald, Standard and Graham.

Montreal averages:
20 industrials 105.70, off 0.80
10 utilities 64.70, off 0.20
30 combined 92.60, off 0.60
15 golds 92.17, off 1.35
Total sales 73,000.

Featureless Board In All Groups

TORONTO (CP)—All groups were on the losing side of a featureless board at midafternoon. Sales at 2 p.m. were 623,000.

Golds failed to rally following morning losses, most active in the group were Aubelle, up two and Bear, down seven.

Liquors firmed a little toward the close, Canadian and Dominion Malting gained fractionally. In the closing papers, Abitibi, common and preferred, were off fractions.

International Uranium was firm in the faltering base metal group, up seven. Falconbridge, Waite Amulet and Labrador were down 10, and Steep Rock, fairly active throughout the session, slipped three.

Oils were irregular, gainers including British Dominion, up 3½, Anglo Canadian up three, Model up one and Hudson Bay up ⅜, and losers were Calgary and Edmonton, down seven, Ajax and Home off five, and East Crest and Homestead off fractionally.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—British buyers returned to the export market today, taking 3,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bushels in the form of flour to boost total purchases in the last two trading days to close to 15,000,000 bushels.

The British buyers re-entered the market Saturday after several weeks of inactivity. No other export trade was reported today either in wheat or coarse grains.

Rye futures showed good advances, stimulated by upturns at Chicago and unfavorable harvest weather on the prairies. Commission houses and eastern and American buyers were in the market. Offerings were light throughout the day.

CHICAGO (AP)—Prices slumped fractionally in wheat futures today.

Only rye showed strength, climbing more than a cent a bushel at times on short covering influenced by higher prices at Winnipeg. Corn dipped.
